BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1366, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section four A.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STOCKMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to direct the attention of this House to certain facts as relates to certain actions taking place in the United States Congress. In the Senate there is Senate Bill No. 1440 to provide for the control of the flood waters of the rivers of the United States for the improvement of navigabilty of such waters, for reforestration and conservation of natural resources and for other purposes. Now, this bill, I believe, has the President's endorsement and provides for seven authorities. The second authority is a corporation to be known as the Atlantic Seaboard Authority which shall have jurisdiction over that area containing the navigable rivers and their tributaries around the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida. This bill further sets forth the powers of the corporation and in section 4, part 6, it says, "May purchase or lease and hold or dispose of such real and personal property as it deems necessary or convenient in the transaction of its business." Under the same heading, in part 8, it says, "Shall have the power in the name of The United States of America to exercise the right of eminent domain for all purpose of this act and in the acquisition of real estate by condemnation proceedings or otherwise.

The title of such real estate shall be taken in the name of the United States of America and thereupon all such real estate shall be entrusted to the corporation as the agent of the United States to accomplish of this act." Nine says, "Shall have the power to provide for the construction maintenance and operation of dam, reservoirs, diversion canals, canals, and incidental works." Now, under the functions of this board, Mr. Speaker, it sets forth first, that they shall have the right to construct through the corps of engineers of the United States Army and to maintain and operate dams, reservoirs, canals, and incidental works to carry out the provisions of this act, to construct through the corps of engineers of the United States Army works and improvements for the regulation of the rivers and the improvement of navigation of such rivers, to study the question of reforestration and the proper use of marginal lands in such area and to acquire by gift, purchase or condemnation marginal lands for reforestration and preservation of wild life and natural resources, such lands to be set aside as timber and game reserves or utilized for public parks and recreational areas. Furthermore should any authority created by this act upon investigation deem it advisable to recommend the development of electric power in connection with any project under its jurisdiction, it may submit such recommendations to the Congress for approval.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I wish to direct your attention to these facts as thus far enumerated and to point out that this last one mentioned has to do with electric power. I believe in Pennsylvania this is one of the least of those elements with which we are concerned; that in our coal area the production of coal and its use for the development of electric power will be far more economical than that produced by water. I believe, futhermore, that this coal project as set forth by the United States Government will help this coal industry which is now so prostrate. I want to direct further to your attention the fact that the United States Government is approaching this whole subject with the view of not only building these works but buying the land and that they have set up not only the necessary plans for surveys and so forth, but they have also set up in this act a provision for the condemnation of land.

The bill that is now before us and upon which I am speaking has to do with the appropriation of $50,000,000 with the purpose that we purchase land by condemnation, and I would like to point out to you that this act of the Federal Congress makes that provision. The other evening I directed attention to the fact that we appropriated $8,000,000, that these provisions were being taken care of and I further pointed out to you that it was very essential that we in Pennsylvania should approach this subject, first, with a full knowledge of what the Federal Government was proposing to do and, secondly, with a full knowledge of what was being done in other sections of the country, that appropriations have already been made in other sections of the country for the purchase of land and that we were being discriminated against in the North if we were not provided for in the same fashion as were the states of the South and the West, and in this respect I have urged bringing upon the floor of this House a resolution that proposes that the Governor of this Commonwealth shall seek the aid and the help of the governors of the adjoining states involved in the development of the Susquehanna and the Delaware valleys to the end that this work may be directed properly and equitably and that we shall not need to invest these moneys in Pennsylvania, as is set forth in this provision.

It is very commendable, Mr. Speaker, that we do our part. It is a forward movement that we be prepared, but I think that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a right, first, to know the plans of the Federal Government: secondly, to see how those plans are progressing until that time I believe it is inadvisable for us to enact this legislation.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. STOCKHAM. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Constitutional Amendments, there to be held until such time as that Committee or the sponsor of this bill may have secured all the information that relate to this great project set forth in United States Senate Bill No. 1440, and with all that information at hand we may then proceed intelligently in every way as may be related to this tremendous and far-reaching development of the river valleys of the State of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, is it appropriate for me at this time or may I interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, on a matter affecting the merits of the bill?

The SPEAKER. The merits of the bill are not debatable at this time as long as a motion to recommit is before the House. The gentleman may interrogate the gentleman upon that motion.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bucks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Bucks if the bill he mentioned, that was introduced in Congress, was a bill introduced or one that has been enacted into law?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, it is a bill that has been introduced by Senators Barkley and Buckley.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. It is not a law of these United States then, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. STOCKHAM. No, not yet, Mr. Speaker. It has the endorsement of the administration.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. Stockham, familiar with the Copeland-Wilson bill, flood control bill introduced in the session of Congress.

Mr. STOCKHAM. I have no great familiarity with that bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Bucks recall that that bill was almost identical with the present Wheeler Bill, which I just mentioned?

Mr. STOCKHAM. I would not say it was that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask that the entire membership vote against the recommitting of this bill. I am surprised that the gentleman on the other side of the House should be a party to a motion to recommit a measure as important as House Bill No. 1366 which is nothing more than a constitutional amendment, which must be voted upon by two assemblies and then submitted to the electorate of this Commonwealth, giving the Legislature the right to authorize the issuance of bonds in the amount of $50,000,000 to set up flood control projects to avert the devastations caused by the floods of 1936 and the flood of just a month or two ago. I need not repeat here that the floods of 1936 caused a loss and damage of tangible property in the amount of approximately $700,000,000 to the people and the industries of the State of Pennsylvania, a loss of over two hundred lives, and I say the State of Pennsylvania, one of the leading industrial states of the nation, has a right to assume a forward program in helping to control floods. In presenting this program of flood control, while it may not avert acts of God, it will certainly mitigate and reduce losses due to floods to a minimum, and I say this program is nothing more than the carrying out of a pledge made his party. What does the bill do? The motion of my friend from Bucks is to recommit this bill until Congress acts on the Wheeler Bill. That may be in June or July, after we adjourn sine die, and let me say here that if Congress should enact the present Wheeler Bill, there will no necessity for this present Assembly or the Assembly in the next session to re-enact this present constitutional amendment. There will be no necessity for the electorate to vote on such a measure, but I say Pennsylvania must protect the people of this Commonwealth and this Assembly has a responsibility to put upon the statute books, at least for the first time, an amendment that will give this Assembly the right to place a bond issue and to attempt to at least avert in the future the devastation caused by the floods of March, 1936, and the floods of a month or two ago.

The bond issue asked for in this amendment is only an infinitesimal part of the cost involved, and I say that we cannot permit the people of Johnstown, the people of Williamsport or Sunbury or the people of the great industrial area that I represent, the city of Pittsburgh, or Lock Haven as my good friend Mr. Simon says to be visited by such floods as we experienced in March of 1936. I say if the Republican Party were to attempt to recommit this bill until Congress acts it is only for the purpose of delaying and possibly pickling this bill.

The press of this whole State is fully behind this measure, and I ask the membership of this House in view of the good that may be done by this amendment, and in view of the fact that should Congress pass their bill there would be no necessity or need for this Assembly to re-enact this bill at the next Session—I ask the membership to vote down the motion of the gentleman from Bucks.

This is not passing a fifty million dollar appropriation bill. It is merely asking the people of this Commonwealth, after two sessions of the Legislature have passed this measure, to authorize the Assembly to issue bonds in the amount of $50,000,000 for the purpose of a flood control program. We owe it to the people of this Commnwealth, we owe it to our industry, we owe it to ourselves to carry out a pledge that we made at the last Session and in the last election.

I ask the entire membership of this House, even though I have talked about the merits of this bill, to vote against the motion to recommit the bill.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Allegheny was really out of order in speaking as he did, but I have no objection to his talking in that fashion and in the way that he addressed this House. This is not a party issue and he cannot make it such. I am not rising here to object to the enactment of this kind of legislation. I did not say "Wait until Congress had enacted its bill." I did say that we should delay as long as may be possible while we were in session the enactment of any such legislation until we know whether before we adjourn Congress may have enacted its bill.

I live in an area that is devastated by such floods, I am fully cognizant of that, and I do not have to be informed as to these conditions. I have seen these things happen in my own home town and so I do know—however patriotically as he would bring it to your attention and have it ring through the halls of this House—the great ravages of floods. I would also bring to your attention, if you please, the fact that we have something at issue here with the Federal Government and that it is a matter of policy: shall the funds that the states of the North pay into the Federal Treasury be given to the states of the South and the West for their flood control and for the purchase of land under condemnation and that we, in turn, be asked in addition to all we contribute to the Federal Treasury, to pay for these lands in this State. That is the issue. The three states of New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey last year contributed to the Federal Treasury $1,300,891,000, twenty-six million people, and we are asked to pay for the land, while in the Tennessee area that takes in seven states with seventeen million people. their contribution was about $449,000,000. These three states I have just mentioned pay thirty-four per cent of the income of the Federal Treasury. This bill in the Senate is a just bill because it does provide that the property in Pennsylvania shall be purchased by the Federal Government. Therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is nothing inconsistent in my making this motion. It is not a Republican move, it is not a matter that concerns party lines, it is a matter that concerns the pocketbook of Pennsylvania as relates to Federal policy.

I believe furthermore, my friends, that the Governor of this great Commonwealth can be placed in a position, and I hope he will be, by the enactment of such an appeal as may be made, particularly as I introduced in the early days of this session in the form of a resolution, so that he can go to the Federal Authorities and to the President of the United States, to ask that this work be done expeditiously, quickly and with dispatch, so that recurring floods shall not take place and that we shall have an equitable standing with the states of the South. Now then my motion is simply to recommit it to a committee until we may know more of what is happening to bill No. 1440 in the Senate of the United States. Those are the motives, if you please, in back of my motion, and so I ask, members of this House, regardless of your party affiliation, that you vote for the conservation and the saving back of it, although we know it is a constitutional amendment, until such time as we may know more of what the Federal Congress proposes doing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Weiss.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, this resolution says: "Irrespective of any debt may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose" and so forth. Does the gentleman interpret that to mean one issue of bonds?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, one issue or several issues, so that the amount does not exceed fifty million dollars.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that. I was not questioning whether they might issue ten or twenty and so forth but would fifty millions be the limit?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, fifty million dollars would be the limit according to my interpretation.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, would there be anything to prevent, after there was that one issue of fifty million, at some time to issue another fifty million as long as they issued it in the sum of fifty million?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I don't think there could be another issue. I might say, further, that the Attorney-General's office agrees with me in this opinion, together with the Legislative Reference Bureau and some of the Democratic counselors in this House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have the greatest respect for the Democratic counselors in this House and for the Attorney-General's office and for any other legal advice that the gentleman may have on the question, nevertheless the combination of all of those at times may be wrong. Why not clarify it?

Mr. SAMUEL A. WEISS. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is any necessity for clarification, in my opinion. If there might be a word or two necessary to be inserted, I would be willing to go along with the gentleman to the Chairman of the committee in the Senate in order to expedite the passage of this measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1038, entitled:

An Act providing that in all cases where writs of habeas corpus are granted the judge may inquire into the facts of the case, including an examination into the record, proceedings and evidence produced against the person committed or detained before the committing judge, officer, magistrate or grand jury, and making such records, proceedings and evidence available for inspection by the petitioner or his counsel.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I apologize to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, the sponsor of this bill

I meant to ask to have it passed over but forgot to do so. I meant to speak to the gentleman with respect to it and to discuss the measure with him. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny to explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill simply permits the judge before whom a matter on writ of habeas corpus has been brought to examine beyond the record.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, does it not provide that the proceedings before the Grand Jury can be brought into the proceedings on habeas corpus before the judge in quarter sessions?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct. Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, has it not been the policy that proceedings before the Grand Jury are secret and are retained as such?

Mr. BROWN. That has been the policy, Mr. Speaker, and a most dangerous and incorrect policy. The answer is, yes.

Mr. TURNER. For what reason, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, the reason is very obvious. The defendant has no way to protect himself in the Grand Jury Room. In many instances the Grand Jury room has become a sort of a star chamber proceedings. I should like to call to the attention of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that this is a discretionary matter with the courts and not mandatory.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, would not the same testimony if it is essential to the habeas corpus proceedings, be available and could it not be brought before the judge in the proceedings in habeas corpus?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the law now,—and I have talked with several lawyers and judges throughout the western part of the State, the judge has no authority to bring into the proceedings the Grand Jury proceedings.

Mr. TURNER. That is not responsive to the question, Mr. Speaker, perhaps I did not make it clear. If the defendant in a case on his petition of habeas corpus on hearing before the court feels that there was some testimony before the Grand Jury which should be brought into his proceedings, wouldn't the court upon application bring those witnesses before the court?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, on a writ of habeas corpus if the judge stands technically on the law as it stands today, he cannot. As I understand, and as I think the law stands today, the judge is bound by the record before him and nothing else on a writ of habeas corpus, although I might say that some judges have gone beyond the record, but they do so reluctantly because there is no authority for them so to do.

Mr. TURNER. What then, Mr. Speaker, in a habeas corpus proceedings that would happen in a Grand Jury room could be germane to the subject if the gentleman's hypothesis is correct.

Mr. BROWN. In many instances, Mr. Speaker, the Grand Jury could make a mistake. Not so long ago in a proceedings before the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County the Grand Jury, I presume on the correct evidence, brought in the wrong indictment or a true bill. The defendant had to stand trial, although if this bill had been law he might have brought the case up before trial on a writ of habeas corpus and examined the Grand Jury proceedings. And may I say to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, that writs of habeas corpus are not sued out generally in matters that are before courts of record, but are sued out quite often in matters that come up on summary convictions, and there of course is a flagrant abuse of the law, as I have found out personally and as other lawyers, and I imagine the gentleman from Delaware has also found out, where committments have never been made out properly. The defendant has been thrown into jail; the time to appeal has expired because he didn't know the five day period, and you are brought before the court with no opportunity to examine the records in the proceeding prior to being brought before the court of record. May I say again to the gentleman from Delaware that this is a discretionary matter. The gentleman from Delaware was in favor of this measure when it passed in 1935, May 28, I believe, and said it was a good bill. I agree that he has a right to change his opinion, and I am happy to know that he now finds the bill dangerous in some respects.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the question which I raised here is one which has been raised by some of my colleagues, and as the gentleman from Allegheny perhaps well knows from past contact with me that I never believe two wrongs make a right or if I am in error in the first instance that I do not hestiate to say so. I am not certain that I was in error in the first instance or that the questions I am raising at the present time are entirely correct. However, among my colleagues there is a feeling that this is an invasion of the long established principle that proceedings before the Grand Jury are secret and that we are opening a door. In the second place it seems to me that there is this danger, that where the proceedings before the Grand Jury as we know are before men who are the peers of the defendant who are selected to hear the testimony and who decide whether an indicment shall be found or a true bill shall be found, that this would substitute the opinion of the court upon any question which the Grand Jury might have felt was worthy of consideration or upon which a true bill could be found. Therefore, it does raise a question, as I see it now, which should be approached very, very carefully.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentelman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. With a great deal of hesitancy, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, why should the Grand Jury proceedings be so secret?

Mr. TURNER. I am very frank to say, Mr. Speaker, I do not know, except that it has been a long established practice, custom and law in the State.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, whether or not this long practice and procedure is in a custom that has simply grown up without any real reason, either in law or in good taste or in good judgment, in his opinion as a lawyer.

Mr. TURNER. That was a rather involved question, Mr. Speaker, to answer yes or no.

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 13, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section five and to repeal section fifteen of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six (P. L. 37), entitled "An act providing for and regulating assistance to, and the burial of, certain aged indigent persons and the administration of this act by the Department of Welfare and the boards of trustees of the mothers' assistance funds of the several counties; authorizing the Department of Welfare to co-operate with and to accept and disburse moneys received from the United States Government for assistance to such persons; authorizing the appointment of trustees for certain persons; providing for the recovery of moneys expended for assistance in certain cases; prohibiting political activity by employes of the board; providing substitute provisions in case Federal grants for old age assistance shall fail for any reason; providing penalties; and repealing inconsistent acts," by changing the qualifications for assistance and by removing the liability of beneficiaries and their estates for repayment of assistance received.

be recommitted to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President and members of the Senate, Senate Bill No. 13 has been in committee since the first day of this session. We have all had the opportunity to study it. For the last four legislative days I have had it go over in its order, for any possible amendment.Up until the present moment I still feel the bill should be amended. I am against sending the bill back to committee for pickling purposes or for any further amendment. I would like to ask the members of this Senate to go along with me to keep this bill on the calendar, to go over in its order for one or two days, and I will be glad to take any suggestions for amending the bill to put it in the proper form to pass.

This is a very simple bill but a very important bill. As I stated last week, the bill discriminates a great deal. We have today the aged, over seventy ears old or upward and they are applying for assistance; and if they should have a property, an old homestead, under the present Act they are compelled to assign that property back to the State for the payment of any pensions or assistance they might receive. The man or woman who has nothing to do can apply for assistance and receive it, and go on and be happy.

I believe Section 15 of the original Act should be taken out, and any person who is indigent, and applies for assistance, should receive same.

I do believe, however, that Section 5, as the bill now stands, should be repealed; and I would like to ask the members of this Senate to pass this bill over in its order, and put back in it Section 5, and then I believe the bill will be in proper form to be passed.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I desire to assure the members of the Senate that there is no intention whatever to pickle this bill in the event it goes back to the committee from which it came.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I wish to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Frey, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, surely.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny feels that the bill will not be pickled in committee, why does he not consent to having the bill amended on the floor tomorrow or the next day?

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I feel the bill needs further consideration to get it in shape. Last week we made several efforts to amend the bill, and, by doing so, make it Constitutional. If this bill goes back to committee, it will receive further consideration.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not see that any further consideration can be given the bill than I have given it. I have contacted a number of the Senators, and I have asked them for suggestions. Each and every member now has an opportunity to amend the bill, or to offer suggestions as to amendments; but if the bill goes back to committee the number of members who will have an opportunity to suggest amendments will be limited; and if the Senator from Allegheny is sincere, I cannot see why he should object to having this bill go over in its order until we can amend it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HALUSKA and Mr. RODGERS and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16.

Frey,	McCreesh,	Rankin,	Rupp,

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 396 (House Bill No. 733), entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand seven hundred and five of and to add section one thousand seven hundred and ten to the act, approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-seven)„ entitled "An act providing for and re-organizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating re-organizing or authorizing the re-organization of certain administrative departments boards and commsisions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other asssitants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" imposing certain additional powers and duties upon the Department of Agriculture.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading,

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture with reference to the bill now under consideration.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Delaware if he is entirely familiar with all the provisions of this bill; and, if so, if he will explain them to the Senate. Otherwise, I will move that this bill go over in its order, for further study and consideration.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the main change in this Act from the old is the part of the bill to seize food products which are considered unhealthy and unfit for human consumption. I believe, under the present Act, they do it by process of law; and while they are getting into motion, naturally, the store-keeper will do away with the spoiled food. This gives them the power to seize on sight food which is unfit for human consumption, to be used as evidence.

I believe the bill has been sponsored by the Department of Agriculture. That is the reason they have had it introduced,—to give them more power over food which is unfit for human consumption.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if this bill does not delegate to the Department of Agriculture functions of the Legislature, in that it permits them to promulgate rules and regulations the violation of which will constitute a criminal offense.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I believe it does.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, it seems to me that is entirely an unconstitutional provision, and that it has been so held by our courts from time to time, in that the Legislature may not delegate to any of its departments the function of creating crimes and misdemeanors; and in view of the answer of the Senator from Delaware, I ask unanimous consent that the bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I am inclined to agree with the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, that this bill, although the framers of it had good intentions, yet I am afraid that they have made it so far reaching that the bill is in danger of running into a Constitutional limitation.

Now, nowhere in the bill is it said that the power conferred is merely that to seize all articles of food produced, manufactured, sold or offered for sale if it be found unwholesome or corrupt and unfit for human consumption; the way the bill is drawn it gives the Department of Agriculture the power also to seize articles of food that are absolutely wholesome but which may be misbranded or mislabeled by the owner of those goods; and the Act does not give him any recourse, does not give him his day in court; for, if the food is wholesome and is merely misbranded, or is kept in violation of some regulation, then, if you take it away from him you are siezing personal property, which it is lawful to possess, without due compensation; and I feel that is a very serious defect in this bill—that if it is intended to cover solely food that is unfit for human consumption, the Act should be limited to that, but, as it is, it is not limited to that, and I am afraid that it does run in to that Constitutional limitation.

If the bill does go to a vote here, I shall vote for the bill, because I think the aim of the bill is absolutely good—that is, to seize food that may be found to be unfit for human consumption. But it goes further than that, and I will vote for it and leave the construction of it properly to the courts of the Commonwealth.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would just like to call the attention of the Senate to one further thing in this bill. This bill gives the Department the right to adopt standards, and then provides that they may seize any food that is produced, even though it is not offered for sale, that does not come up to the standards set forth by the Department. In other words, there is not a thing in this Act, if the Department sets up a standard for potatoes and provides they should be over a certain size, the farmer would be guilty of a crime if he possessed potatoes under the size set up as standard by this Department.

It seems to me this bill cannot be sustained. There is no reason for it. It does not provide—as the Senator from Fayette very properly said—it does not provide that only food on sale can be seized, or if unfit for human consumption; if it is not up to the standard set up by the Department of Agriculture, it can be seized even though not offered for sale, even though in the possession of the farmer who produced it.

I cannot believe that the Senate will support a bill like that.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I believe that the Senators who suggested amendments to this bill are not reading the bill in its entirety. Section D does give to the Department the right to set up definitions and standards, but those definitions and standards are such as shall be necessary according to the provisions for the enforcement of the laws of this Commonwealth.

The laws of the Commonwealth to which this bill is an amendment set up the definitions as to what is and what is not proper food. The standards and definitions to be set up by the Department under the amendment—and that is the only purpose of this amendment—are such as shall be necessary to enforce the law. No standard and no definition can be set up in violation or contravention of the present or original definitions of impure food as set up in the original Act! and it seems to me this Senate can safely vote for the bill without any fear of its being in violation for contravention of the existing laws.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move to recommit is bill to the Committee on Agriculture for the purpose further consideration.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second that motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in the absence of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 409 on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand and thirty-five as amended and section one thousand and sixty-two of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws five hundred nineteen) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" further regulating reports of auditors and controllers go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and seventy-one of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws one thousand two hundred seventy-eight) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" authorizing counties to omit the imposition of taxes on occupations

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 489 (House Bill No. 177), entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-two) entitled as amended "An act relating to domestic animals and providing for their appraisement when condemned to prevent the spread of disease and regulating payments by the Commonwealth in such cases and the payment of salvage by butchers" as amended by changing the amount of compensation in certain cases

And said bill having been read at length the third time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, this being a very important bill to the farmers of this Commonwealth, I ask unanimous consent that it go over in its order, so that we may have a chance to give it some further consideration.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Eroe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Eroe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Eroe, to explain to the Senate the terms of this bill.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, this bill provides that part of the appropriation be used for the eradication of—or, for the reimbursing of farmers for cattle that have Bang's Disease. Heretofore they have had no money to reimburse farmers whose cattle had Bang's Disease; they used it for cattle that had tuberculosis.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if it is not a fact that this represents a decrease in the amount paid to farmers of the Commonwealth for cattle diseased through tuberculosis.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, that is true.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, to what extent?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, from forty dollars to thirty-two fifty.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, how about the registered stock? To what extent does it reduce the amount paid for that?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I am not a farmer. I do not know.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, why does the Senator from Beaver, then, object to this bill's going over in its order? The Senator does not know what is in the bill? does he?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, is the Senator from Bucks interrogating me, or arguing with me? I have not answered the Senator's question yet.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, when I made this request that the bill go over in its order I did it after consultation with a farmer, the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, who is an expert farmer. He agreed with me that this bill was probably not in the best shape it could be gotten into; and for the sake of the farmers of the State I thought it best to give an opportunity for further study; that is why I made the request that the bill go over in its order, that it may have further consideration. Now the Senator from Beaver objects to the bill's going over in its order—which is his right—and in order that it may consider further consideration, I move that it be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I object to this bill's going over in its order, because I think the Senator from Beaver was perfectly justified in his objecting to it. This bill was considered in caucus, and everybody understood that it was to be acted upon and voted on tonight; and if the Senator from Bucks saw fit to make such a motion, he should have done it before tonight.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I will finish my answer to the questions of the Senator from Bucks. Tuberculosis in this State is almost eradicated from cattle. There is not, according to the Secretary of Agriculture, much of it left; and they feel they should start to eradicate Bang's Disease. Bang's disease is communicable to human beings—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, my point of order is that a motion to recommit is not debatable.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is well taken. The question before the Senate is on the motion to recommit.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I suggest that the objection to the bill's going over in its order be withdrawn.

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is on the motion to recommit, and not on the request that the bill go over in its order.

And the question recurring?

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion, for the present, at the suggestion of the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture.

The PRESIDENT. Will the seconder of the motion withdraw his seconding of it?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I would like to justify my position as an expert farmer, for the benefit of the polished Senator from Bucks. This appropriation for grade cattle was at one time forty dollars. That was reduced in the House to twenty-five dollars, which is too low. We got it up to thirty-two fifty for a grade cow, which is matched by the Federal Government, making a total of fifty-seven fifty plus the price of the carcas which is used. I admit this is not a sufficient amount for a grade cow, but the Department of Agriculture insists they have no money; they say the State is very short of money.

Now, I am willing, in view of the fact that this is a very important bill to the farmers of the Commonwealth, to have it go over in its order, and that a sub-committee be appointed to confer with the Department of Agriculture and see if there cannot be something done to raise this indemnity a few dollars at least, which, to my mind, will replace a grade cow. I do not think fifty-seven fifty plus the price of the carcas will replace a grade cow or bull, whichever it may be.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to press my objection to this bill's going over in its order. I am stating that, while I am not an expert farmer—

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is, will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. RODGERS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, may I add that these amendments are amendments ordered by the Committee on Labor and Industry and after the bill was put on the postponed calendar as amended by the Committee, it was found that certain language in it had to be changed in order to make the bill constitutional. These amendments do not alter the provisions of the act whatsoever but only qualify certain sections. I will be glad to consider that after the amendments are included.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, under those circumstances, I withdraw my objection.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection to the amendment? The Chair hears none.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for the purchase of a certain tract of land in the name of the Commonwealth

Whereas Prior to one thousand nine hundred and seventeen the Commonwealth began to extend the area of the Military Reservation at and around Mount Gretna by purchasing lands and obtaining options on other lands extending across the Southern border of Lebanon County into Lancaster County and

Whereas Said program extended over a period of years until one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one when the State Military Reservation Commission recommended the acquisition of the new reservation at Indiantown Gap and

Whereas In July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six Lt Col Wm L Hicks then Superintendent of the Mount Gretna Reservation advised the Adjutant General that he had just learned the Becker farm was to be sold at public sale and he was instructed by the Adjutant General if the price was not too high to purchase it to protect the Commonwealth's development program because this land was almost in the center of the then projected extension of the reservation and

Whereas Pursuant to such instructions Col Hicks purchased said land for the benefit of the Commonwealth paying therefor the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) financing such purchase by the payment of five thousand dollars ($5,000) from his own funds and executing a mortgage for the balance and

Whereas It was the intention of the Adjutant General then in office that said farm should be purchased by the Commonwealth from Col Hicks at the price paid by him since said purchase was in fact made for the protection of the Commonwealth but declining appropriations a subsequent legislative session made said purchase impossible and

Whereas Under the date of January tenth one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five the Governor approved the purchase of said farm from Col Hicks which purchase was approved by the State Military Reservation Commission but due to change of administrations the transaction was never completed therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of thirteen thousand dollars ($13,000) is hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Military Affairs for the purposes of purchasing in the name of the Commonwealth from Lt Col Wm L Hicks former Superintendent of the Mount Gretna Military Reservation the tract of land known as the Becker farm which he acquired for the protection of the Commonwealth in order to prevent an impediment to the extension of the Mount Gretna Military Reservation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, sometimes it has been said that we as members of this Legislature have voted upon proposed legislation without first having knowledge of the facts or any advice on the merits or demerits of the bill. However in Bill. No. 794 in its present form, that is before you, that precedent is not applicable, but we are now called upon to decide whether we shall pass legislation that is opposed to the facts and to the recommendations of one of our own departments of Government, established as a branch of Government, and based upon a two year study ordered by this House. On June 1, 1935, this House adopted a resolution, sponsored by Messrs. Simon and Mentzer which set forth therein.

"Whereas, many bills were introduced at this session of the General Assembly seeking to amend the law governing companies authorized to make small loans; and

Whereas, notwithstanding the apparent need, therefor, the Legislature has failed to enact any legislation on this subject: therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Banking be directed to make a study of the conditions and law under which small loan companies are operating in this and other states and counties, and make report thereon to the next regular session of the House of Representatives, together with such draft of legislation as is deemed necessary to correct deficiencies and inequities in the present law."

In accordance with that resolution, the Department of Banking, through its Secretary, Mr. Luther A. Harr, an oppointee of His Excellency Governor Earle made such a study and forwarded to this House its message and report. That study and that report incidentally has been recognized as one of the most valuable, complete and impartial contributions on this controversial subject of small loans' legislation. With his report and this part thereof Secretary Harr prepared House Bill No. 794 embodying therein the recommendations of his Department upon that study, and in his letter to this House Secretary Harr said "I am happy to say that these measures have the full approval of the Administration." In the forward of his message Secretary Harr, an appointee of Governor Earle said "The problem of legislation on the subject of interest rates is not new to Pennsylvania nor is it confined to this State. Volumes have been written in condemnation and in defense of the taking of interest. The problem is as old as the history of mankind. It has been a constant controversy between the lender having capital and the borrower desiring the use of capital." But said Mr. Harr "Legislation on the subject of consumer credit is ineffective if it is merely prohibited. Capital is invested in this phase of financing by reason of existence of a very definite economic demand. This demand arises from human necessities and requirements. Legislation governing and regulating consumer credit must permit the flow of legitimate capital into these channels to meet the existing demand if it is to be successful."

So, Dr. Harr on behalf of the Department of Banking presented to this House the recommended bill which he claimed has the support of the Administration. House Bill No. 794 was carefully considered by your Banking Committee. A public hearing was held on that bill. The bill was then reported to this House as an Administration bill. In that bill, as reported by your Banking Committee, the provisions reducing the rate of interest on small loans from the present rate of three and one-half per cent per month to a scale of three and two percent. That bill deserves the support of every man and woman in this House who is desirous of correcting and regulating the loaning and regulating the loaning of small sums of money in the amounts of three hundred dollars or less.

But although this was an Administration bill prepared and sponsored by the Department of Banking, and approval of Secretary Harr, nevertheless on the second reading of that bill, from the floor of this House amendments were presented by which the Department's recommendations of three and two were stricken out, and the rate was reduced to two and one-half and one and one-half percent. House Bill No. 794 is now in that form by reason of the amendments presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lewis.

The question, therefore, in this House is for this body to decide as to whether it will follow the advice and recommendations of that contained in the report of one of its departments, the Department of Banking, based upon actual study and experience, and which according to the Secretary of Banking has the full approval of the Administration, or whether this House will ignore those findings and those recommendations, in order to pass a bill which has been amended contrary and in opposition to the report of your Secretary of Banking.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker and members of this House, in speaking upon this bill and in order to offset in your mind any suspicion of selfish interests or political differences most all of my remarks and comments will be direct quotations from the report as filed by your Secretary Harr of the Department of Banking.

To show the far reaching effect of this legislation upon the working man or woman and the needy citizens in Pennsylvania, Dr. Harr and his Department report: "Statistics show that eighty-five percent of the people of this country have no bank credit. Prior to the passage of special legislation restricting and governing the lending of money in samll amounts for consumption purposes, the members of this class 'eighty-five percent of our people' were compelled as their only recourse to borrow from lenders operating outside the law. These lenders were commonly referred to as 'loan-sharks'. The rates charged by the 'loan-sharks' varied greatly. The minimum average rate charged by these lenders was one hundred twenty percent per year. There seems to have been no limit to the maximum which the borrower might be required to pay. In the investigation of specific cases rates of one thousand percent per year were not uncommon."

So, Dr. Harr then recites in his report the history of the bill and the many attempts that were made to eliminate the loan-sharks out of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but until Act No. 432, approved June 15, 1915, all of these attempts were held unconstitutional. In 1915 the first act was passed which was held constitutional by our courts and which permitted the licensed lenders under supervision of your Department of Jusice to make loans in the sum of three hundred dollars or less to individuals pressed by lack of funds. This was amended subsequently until 1919, which was the last year in which any amendments were passed.

Operating under this law and its amendments Dr. Harr tells you in the year 1935 four hundred seventy-nine licensed offices under his supervision made three hundred and ninety-three thousand loans to these people and totaling over fifty-four million dollars; and that loans of less than one hundred dollars, said Dr. Harr, are unprofitable and yet the total number ow loans granted by the legitimate lenders in this State under the sum of one hundred dollars comprised approximately fifty percent of all those loans. The Doctor's report further discloses that the vast majority of these loans were made to people who have no security to offer, more than sixty percent of them having been made to people whose only security was the furniture in their homes, and Dr. Harr said that is unsatisfactory and most unsuitable kind of security; and that these loans were made to people of Pennsylvania to purchase the necessities and things of every day life.

So, Dr. Harr develops his report. He develops this report showing that the three and one-half percent charge of the lenders under his supervision was not necessarily the tremendous amount of profit that some have referred to in this House.

Dr. Harr and his Department who have made a two year study of this matter, however, in this report have given you a table of their findings of the income of the people and the companies operating.

Those operating at three-and one-half percent or the maximum rate, one hundred and five offices have loaned seventeen million dollars. Those operating at a three percent maximum rate, with two hundred and twenty-three offices lent over eleven million seven hundred fifty thousand dollars and made a net return for the year 1935 of 3.59%. Those are figures of your Dr. Harr in the Department of Banking based on a two year study ordered by this House.

Then Dr. Harr entered into a thing that to me appeals greatly as being based on sound study. Every man and woman in this House, if we have had any experience, and those who have been subjected to the loan-shark are desirous of eliminating the loan-shark out of the State of Pennsylvania and of protecting our needy people from falling into their clutches. With that all men are in accord. However, Dr. Harr in his report shows plainly that the bill in its present form, instead of eliminating the loan-shark will by virtue of its amendments encourage them and once more subject our people to the loan-shark who charges one hundred, two hundred or a thousand percent.

Listen to this report of your own Department of Banking based on a two year study:

"In addition to Pennsylvania there are twenty-seven states in the United States which have enacted a special statute, in the nature of a Small Loans Act regulating the business of lending money in small sums. The rates charged under these acts vary greatly. As an example, in Alabama the rate is 8% per year of the face amount of loans of $100 or less. Georgia reduced its rate from 3½% to 1½% per month in 1935. New Hampshire has a rate of 2% per month. Under a flat rate or an aggregate rate there are three states which have fixed 2½% per month as a maximum, ten states which have fixed 3% per month as a maximum and eleven states which have fixed 3½% per month as a maximum.

In Pennsylvania lenders do not enjoy the convenience of a chattel mortgage law. In twenty-one of the twenty-seven states having a form of Small Loan Act a chattel mortgage law has been passed.

It has been contrary to the policy of the Commonwealth to permit the assignment of wages in Pennsylvania. Lenders operating under the Small Loans Act do not, therefore, have the benefit of this very effective method of collection. In twenty-five of the other states having small loan acts the assignment of wages is permitted. In the majority of these states the wage assignment can be used effectively by lenders operating under the various small loan acts.

In a questionnaire addressed by this Department to the various states having small loan acts each state was requested to advise if the passage of the small loan act had effectively eliminated socalled "loan sharks" charging exorbitant rates. It is significant that Alabama having a rate of less than 1½% per month reports that its act has not eliminated the "loan sharks." Georgia with its 1½% likewise reports that the "loan sharks" have not been eliminated and to the Superintendent of Banks, Robert E. Gormley, is attributed a statement after the reduction of the interest rate from 3½% to 1½% in 1935, that the "licensed and regulated companies are withdrawing * * * leaving the necesitous borrower to the mercies of the unregulated loan firm."

It is perhaps better that we confine our study of rates in other states to those states bordering Pennsylvania and perhaps a few others having large centers of industrial population similar to Pennsylvania.

In New Jersey the small loans act has had a rather hectic career. Prior to 1929 the maximum rate permitted was 3% per month. In 1929 the rate was reduced to 1½% per month. It remainded at this figure until 1932 at which time it was increased to 2½% per month. It is interesting to note the effect which the reduction in rates in 1929 had upon the small loan business in New Jersey. Prior to 1929 loans outstanding in New Jersey exceeded twenty millions. two years later the volume had dropped to less than six millions. In others words, practically all lenders had or were retiring from business in New Jersey. Many of the organizations licensed to do business in New Jersey prior to 1929 removed their offices to Morrisville, Pennsylvania, which is just across the Delaware from New Jersey's capital, Trenton, and to Philadelphia, where on the other side of the Delaware are Camden and many other smaller cities and towns in South Jersey. New Jersey borrowers came from points within a radius of fifty miles to obtain loans from Pennsylvania offices at 3½% per month for the reason that there were no facilities in New Jersey where these loans could be obtained at the then legal rate of 1½% per month.

Even though New Jersey did increase its rate to 2½% per month in 1932, residents of that state still continued to come to Pennsylvania in order obtain loans. It is estimated that during the year 1936 more than 9,000 residents of New Jersey crossed the Delaware to obtain loans from Pennsylvania licensees totaling one million four hundred thousand dollars.

It is an open question whether 2½% per month is adequate to induce companies to expand their lending facilities in New Jersey, or whether the continued influx of borrowers into Pennsylvania results from the fact that a large number of New Jersey companies moved into Pennsylvania following the rate reduction to 1½% in 1929 and have retained their Pennsylvania location or merged with Pennsylvania companies and have held their New Jersey clientele.

A somewhat similar situation developed in West Virginia when the rate was cut in 1929 from 3½% per month to 2% per month. In 1931 the Better Business Bureau of Huntington, West Virginia issued a bulletin from which we quote 'The high rate lenders have flourished in West Virginia since 1929, when our State Legislature reduced the maximum rates that could be legally charged from 3½% to 2% per month on the unpaid balance on loans up to $300. This change in the laws virtually forced the legitimate lenders out of business and served as an invitation to the high rate operators.' In March, 1933 the Legislature of West Virginia increased the maximum rate to 3½% per month on sums of $150 or less and 2½% on balances in excess of $150 but not exceeding $300.

A small loan act was passed in Missouri in 1927 permitting an interest charge of 3½% per month. Two years later in 1929 the act was amended reducing the rate of interest to 2½% per month. The 1927 Act has not been in operation for a sufficient length of time to determine the effect of the rate reduction on the basis of outstanding loans. As an indication of the effect of this rate reduction, it is noted that the number of licensees declined from 174 prior to the rate reduction to 95 in 1931. Those licensed lenders who remained in business practically eliminated loans of $100 or less thus the borrower having need for loans in amounts less than $100 was deprived of the legitimate source of credit and compelled to resort to the highest rate lenders operating outside the law.

In New York State a law was passed in 1932 permitting an interest charge of 3% per month on loan balances to $150 and 2½% per month on balances from $150 to $300. Statistics are not available to indicate the effect of this act on the relative volume or character of small loans in that state.

Our neighboring State of New York has had a similar experience to this State. In 1928 it was shocked by disclosures of loan sharking on an appalling scale; discovering that twenty-five million dollars of usurious interest at rates of from 240% to 520% had been extorted that year alone from the wage earners of New York City.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor estimated that three hundred forty-one million dollars had been loaned to 190,000 small borrowers in New York City alone, mostly through illegal sources.

Yet, New York had a small loan law in effect since 1920. The rate permitted under that law was 2¼% a month. Yet the Baumes Crime Commission, in making its report on the condition, pointed out that two chief defects of the law responsible for this condition was an insufficient rate, and a burdensome restriction on the licensees and the granting of licenses; setting forth that capital, if allotted a fair rate, would flow into the business contemplated by the Personal Loan Law. But at 2¼% per month, legitimate capital could not be attracted, and as a result the entire field was in the hands of bootleg lenders, reaping lucrative earnings from the pressing needs of the small borrower. The Committee than recommended that the Banking Law be changed by removing the restrictions on earnings. Several attempts were made to change this law, until in 1932 the New York Legislature finally passed its present law, wherein the rate of interest was fixed at 3% up to $150, 2½% on the balance. On March 26, 1935, Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Governor of then Governor of the Commonwealth of New York, signed that bill with the following message:

'TO THE LEGISLATURE:

'It appearing to my satisfaction that the public interest requires it:

'Therefore, In accordance with the provisions of Section fifteen of Article three of the Constitution and by virture of the authority conferred upon me, I do hereby certify to the necessity of the immediate passage of Assembly Bill Int. No. 1335, Pr. No. 2243, entitled An Act to amend the banking law, in relation to certain lenders of small loans.

'Given under my hand the Privy Seal of the State at the Capitol in the City of Albany this eigth day of March in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nnie Hundred and thirty-two.

(Signed) FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

'By the Governor
Guernsey T. Gross,
Sec'y to the Governor.'

The Annual Report of the Superintendent of New York for the year ending December 31, 1936, contains this significant statement:

'In view of the experience above outlined and the experience of other states in regulating rates permitted to be charged by licened lenders, the Department feels that no reason exists at the present time for a modification of the maximum rates authorized in this state.' And remember, these rates are 3% up to $150, 2½% on the remainder. A similar experience is found in a message of veto signed by Governor Wilbut L. Cross, of Connecticut, on June 21, 1935, when he vetoed a bill which would have reduced the monthly rate of charge on small loans to 2½%. Governor Cross said:

'The Committee on Banks held a public hearing and reported unfavorably on the proposal to reduce the interest rate on small loans. The bill in question, however passed both House and Senate in the closing hours of the session, notwithstanding the unfavorable report from the committee that heard the evidence. It is clear that there was not sufficient information before the general assembly upon which to base a vote.

"The question at issue goes deeper than the apparently high rate of interest for small loans. It has social aspects of considerable importance. From the information before me, it would seem that 4% per month for small loans is not excessive for this type of business, and that a lower rate would almost certainly prevent the well-managed and reputable companies from engaging in business. The individual instances of hardship and oppression are due not to the difference between 3% and 2½% a month, but either to the harshness of an individual loaner or the misfortune of an individual borrower who has not found it possible to make his payments on time.

"Such cases do not have a bearing upon the wider question of what is a proper regulation of the interest rate. The State Banking Department is in close touch with the various companies engaged in this type of business and so will be in a position to make constructive recommendations at the next session of the general assembly.

"In the meantime, I am of the opinion that the weight of evidence is that 3% is fair. For this reason and because the bill was apparently passed without sufficient study, I withhold approval."

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when we come here it is to represent what we consider in the interests of our constituents. It is to be considered that we are to heed the voice of the men and women at home to correct the evils as they exist, and which should be corrected. In this connection it is interesting to note from the report of your Dr. Harr of the Department of Banking from whom the objections were coming, and who was making the demands for all these revolutionary and drastic changes in this particular law of the Commonwealth.

Dr. Harr states in his report: "A search of the files of the Department will disclose complaints to the Secretary of Banking by borrowers. The department makes a special investigation of every complaint received from a borrower. The examination of the report of these investigations will show that there are two types of borrowers represented by these complaints." Without taking up any more of your time on this quotation I will just read the last paragraph: "There are in Pennsylvania in excess of 360,000 persons who have borrowed from licensees operating under the Small Loans Act. During the period of one year from July 1, 1935 to July 1, 1936 the Department of Banking received a total of thirty-six complaints. This represents one complaint for every ten thousand borrowers." That is the report of the Banking Committee.

In concluding that report, I would suggest to each and every member, regardless of his political affiliations, who is interested in the question, to read the report and the study of your Department of Banking. It is worth while and it is receiving comments, it is receiving appreciation from many other states of the Union who are being faced with this same problem. And this is the way Dr. Harr closes:

"For generations the United States has been building up the greatest productive machine the world has ever seen. To make available and to capitalize the inventive genius of our people, the immense wealth of natural resources, the intelligence, industry and ability of the working people, huge credit agencies have been organized, financing the expansion and maintenance of our productive mechanism.

"Under the leaderhip of the President purchasing power is being protected through the Social Security Act of the Federal Government and related acts of the various states, through maximum hour and minimum wage laws, the increase of workmen's compensation benefits, the elimination of child labor and the sweatshop. But all of these measures, vital and beneficial as they are, cannot alone accomplish the desired end.

"Consumers must occasionally borrow to meet unexpected emergencies and to acquire goods and services that can be paid for by low income groups only in instalments over a period of time. To that end, consumer credit agencies, lending at reasonable rates of interest, must be developed and expanded.

"It is estimated that 85 percent of the population cannot obtain credit from commerical banks, not because of any lack of honesty or good faith, but because their economic status prevents them from furnishing either the collateral or financial statement of the type required by commerical banks as a basis or security for loans.

"Most of this 85 percent should be able to obtain credit to improve their homes, to purchase necessary goods, to pay physicians' bills and hospital charges, or to meet any of the thousand and one emergencies which constantly confront the average family.

"The Legislature, in seeking to provide adequate consumer credit, should be guided by two basic rules; the borrowing public must be protected against extortionate interest charges and the rates allowed must be sufficient to permit the lender to earn a fair return on his invested capital.

"Experience has shown that it is impossible to apply the first rule without also employing the second. The Legislature when it enacted the Small Loans Act of Pennsylvania in 1915, as evidenced by the preamble to that statute, realized the futility of attempting merely to prohibit the lending of money at the exorbitant rates charged borrowers prior to the passage of this act.

"In order to put a stop to the lending of money at excessive rates it was necessarry to invite legitimate capital into the business of lending money to supply the demand which then existed. To attract legitimate capital it was necessary to offer a fair return on such capital commensurate with the risk involved. It was only through the established of legally operated small loans companies that the "loan shark" was gradually eliminated. After the borrowers learned that they could obtain loans at a lower rate of interest from legitimate lenders, the "loan shark" was finally forced to withdraw from the State.

"Based on its survey of the small loan field, the Department of Banking recommends to the Legislature that the maximum contract interest rate be lowered. Mindful of the experience of such states as West Virginia, Missouri, Georgia and New Jersey, which lowered too drastically their rates and drove the legitimate lenders out of their jurisdictions, the Department urges that the Legislature move cautiously in making reduction.

"Specifically the Department recommends that the Small Loans Act be amended to fix a maximum rate of 3 percent per month on that part of the unpaid principal balances not in excess of $100. and 2 percent per month on any remainder of such unpaid principal balances. The Departments' investigation indicates that legitimate capital can operate successfully at this rate.

"It is urged that the Legislature adopt the suggested rate schedule at this session and empower the Department to continue its study of the consumer credit problem. It will be far better for the borrowing public if the Legislature errs at this time on the side of conservatism, rather than to risk the possibility of forcing out of the Commonwealth the legitimate lender to the consumer.

"The Department is aware of the fact that the "loan shark" is only too eager to have the legislature set a rate of interest at which the legitimate lender cannot operate. Such action by the Legislature would deprive our people of adequate sources of credit and throw them into the hands of the unprincipled lender.

"And nothing the Legislature can do for the people of the Commonwealth will be of more lasting benefit than making it possible for the wage and salary worker to obtain adequate credit for legitimate purposes."

And this House must now decide whether it will fulfill the Governor's pledge to abolish the loan shark, or by the passage of this bill drive out the legitimate lender, in order that the loan shark may once again fatten on the need of our people.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I say sincerely, speaking to you that there is no one in this House who feels more sincere in an attempt to restrict and put under the Department of Banking for safe regulation an industry that lends to the needy people of Pennsylvania who have no credit but no one is more familiar with the loan shark who charges 200 to 500%, who works under cover, who charges such rates as to drive out of business the legitimate men and thereby subject the needy borrower to his own insidious deals and his high handed methods. And so I say to this House when this bill came up, sponsored as I understood, by the Governor in his message to the Legislature to reduce the interest and to eliminate the loan shark; when Dr. Harr, the appointee of that Governor and the head of the Department, after a two year study has presented to this House a bill which he said was an Administration bill, and a bill which to me is one hundred percent deserving of support of every man and woman in this House whether Republican or Democrat, I felt that our problem was solved and we would be doing a good job.

But I say to this House that the problem before you now is for you to decide as to whether you will fulfill the pledges of your Governor, spoken in the Speaker's Chair of this House to abolish the loan shark: whether you will support your own Administration bill presented by your own Secretary of Banking after two years study; whether you will pass that Legislation as recommended by your Department of Banking, or whether we shall in an excess of emotion accept a plan coming on the floor of that type and thereby encourage and foster once more the loan shark in the State of Pennsylvania.

For that reason and with personal regrets that I cannot vote for Bill No. 794 in the form recommended by your Administration and your Department, I am suggesting that as long as these amendments stay in this bill that we vote down this bill in order to protect our people from the loan shark that will come in on the passage of this bill.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in the session of 1937 the Department of Banking has drawn up a number of bills for the protection of the borrower. There was the Consumers' Credit Bill, the Pawnbroker's Bill and various other bills, and now the Small Loans Bill, which we are considering tonight. I consider it the most important of the measures presented by the Banking Department. It is true that the bill is not before you in the form in which it came from the Department of Banking, and at first blush it seems a wide depature from that bill, but on closer scrutiny it does not differ so greatly from that proposed by the Department of Banking. The bill as originally presented provided, as the previous speaker said, for a three percent monthly rate up to one hundred dollars, and two percent on amounts over one hundred dollars.

In the Banking Committee the bill was amended to make the break at one hundred and fifty dollars, and later on the floor of this House it was amended to make the break at one hundred and fifty dollars at two and one-half percent per month, and one and one-half percent on amounts over one hundred fifty dollars. As presented by the Department of Banking, the rates were at least two and one third percent per month on an average. As it stands before you at present, the rates per month are two percent, making a difference of one-third of one percent per month, and that, I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen of this House, is not a very material change.

Government in my opinion should exist and legislate largely for those who are not able to appear here or who are unwilling to appear here, and for those who have no spokesmen.

Practically every bill before this House is represented by some lobbyist. Every organization in this Comomnwealth, every craft, every trade, and every other organization, agriculture and manufacturing concerns, are represented by lobbyists in this House, but the borrower has never had any lobbyist in this House, and it behooves us, ladies and gentlemen of this House, to protect these people, because on account of inclination or on account of the fact that they fear recriminations against them, they have never come here asking for relief from these burdensome rates of interest which they have paid under the Small Loans Act enacted in 1915.

I submit to you that since 1915 a great deal of water has passed over the mill. Today money is probably cheaper than it has been for many a decade. Call money in 1928 was up as high as twenty seven percent and at the present time it is one percent. Interest has been reduced by the Farm Loan Banks, and interest has been reduced on all kinds of money borrowed or money which is loaned by various organizations. You can borrow money from commercial banks at as low as four percent, and in line with this, I believe we are perfectly safe in voting for this measure as it stands today.

It has been suggested that we take the higher rates and in two years, if we find the rates are too high we can reduce them. I want to present the other proposition, let us adopt these rates, let us vote for this bill as it stands at present, and in two years, if we find the rates are too low, we can easily raise them.

Ladies and gentlemen of this House; in the name of those people who are compelled to borrow from the small loan organizations in the name of the eighty-five percent, who have no credit at the regularly organized banks; in the name of these eighty-five percent who are compelled in times of distress to go to the loaner of small loans, let us vote for this legislation and give them some type of redress.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have listened with a great deal of interest to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Perry, and the most enlightening thought that I received from him was the thought that tonight, on this auspicious occasion, we find a member of the opposition speaking whole heartedly for an administration measure, and if I had no other thought on the subject, that would recommend to me a change and the adoption of the more progressive measure, more progressive than it was originally presented, for that reason alone.

I say to you with all frankness that I believe there are some things of great value in the report prepared by the Department of Banking as the result of legislation of this House. For more than fifteen years bills to correct the vicious conditions that exist in our small loan business have been introduced in this House time and again, and have failed of passage. For fifteen years the needy people of Pennsylvania who should have been supplied with this Small Loans Act have waited, and waited hopelessly, for us to do something about it. We are here tonight and we have that opportunity. I have only this fault to find with the report of the Banking Department, that they did not go far enough with the picture. I want to recite to you some figures which are facts that can not be denied. For example, of five companies that engaged in licensed lending under the Small Loans Act in Pennsylvania, company "a" with a capitalization and surplus, if you please, of $145,078, in 1928 earned eight percent on that capital and surplus. Going down the years, that same company in 1928, with very little difference in capital and surplus, earned thirteen percent. In 1934, in a depression year, if you please, they earned eight percent plus, and in 1935, they earned ten percent plus.

These figures do not favorably compare with those recited by my friend of the opposition, as to the small earnings of these poor, unfortunate individuals who are so kind and generous as to engage in this business, so that you and I, or the less fortunate people of Pennsylvania might be taken care of in the matter of loans.

Then we go down the line, we find in a small capitalized company, that even in 1927, company "c", capitalized at $53,000 earned twenty five percent plus on that capitalization and surplus. And, mind you, in 1928, at the end of the boom year, their capitalization was $58,669, and mark this well, they earned on that amount of money $29,463, or fifty percent of their total capitalization.

Does that in any way represent a real, poor soul who is doing things for charitable purposes? Go to the larger companies, the companies that they speak about, that are only going to be permitted to do business under this act as amended, company "e" in 1927, with a capitalization of ten million odd dollars, in that year earned a net profit on that capitalization of two million three hundred thousand odd dollars, or twenty percent of the total capitalization. They earned so much money that they increased their capital and surplus in 1928 from $10,000,000 to $27,000,000, and even in the face of these figures they still earned over nine per cent on their capital and surplus. And in 1934, a depression year, not being satisfied yet, they increased their capitalization from $17,000,000 to $30,000,000, and in that year they earned more than twelve percent of their capital and surplus. My friend has referred to the loan shark and states that he will take over this business, if this bill as amended is adopted. Let me say for him and for the education of all of the members of this House, only one side of this story was recited. He recited that in 1932 they had eliminated the loan sharks in New York by increasing the rate. Gentlemen, if he had read the New York papers of two weeks ago, he would find that the Commissioner of Police in New York had made the statement that the loan shark was running rampant in New York under the increased rates. The rates are not the direct controlling factor; rather the controlling factor that applies in every place where industry employs a great number of people that attempt to engage in it, and the fellow who is willing to borrow the money cares very little, if any at all, at the time when he makes the loan, what interest he is going to pay, but he rues the day when he does have to pay it.

I do not desire to burden you any further as there is other business on the calender. I urge you to help to put this bill on the statute books of Pennsylvania, and we will then have done a thing that the Democratic party of Pennsylvania has pledged itself to do. It will be taking care of those people who my colleague, Mr. Flinchbaugh, has called to your attention, who have no lobbyists in Harrisburg, and I will ask the members of this House to support this measure.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there has been a microphone installed near my chair, but as I would have to turn my back on all of you and talk to the audience in the corner, that does not seem to me to be a fair way to approach a subject which has been treated so widely and so vehemently as this has.

My young colleague from Philadelphia has gone into the departments and into the statistics and picked out five companies. Of course, on any measure that you could place before the House, you could no doubt in any industry or any business go out and pick out five companies or ten companies out of the total doing business in this State in any line of industry and could find that they had returns which made very high profits. You can not legislate on the high profit basis and expect that that will carry through to all.

I think that what has been said here on the other side of this subject, like the report of Mark Twain's death, you know, he said it was greatly exagerated, but think we are missing the main point in this whole question when we simply talk in generalities about the reduction to the people, and about the poor people, and about the poor people who are entitled to receive a reduction in interest.

I do not believe that there is any one who has made a careful study of this entire subject who does not and has not believed that there was a possibility of a reduction in rates, but as I have stood before you on many another occasion, I have tried to caution this House about reductions or imposing taxes and things of that kind that make either radical cuts or impose radical burdens upon business.

After all, as the Department of Banking report says, the thing that you are interested in is not only to secure a fair rate to the people, but to enable capital to be invested in this State in order to enable those people to secure moneys that they need in times of distress, or when they need unusual funds in order either to liquidate and indebtedness, or by accumulating their indebtedness in one lump sum, to pay it off in small sums, as they are able to do.

I think that the Chairman of the Banking Committee said a few minutes ago that money was very cheap, and he talked about call money. Of course, call money is cheap. If you have very high grade bonds, if you are going to borrow money for thirty or sixty days, you can walk into one of the big metropolitan banks and borrow money at one half or three quarters of one percent, but if you go as a business and offer your note to a bank today, you will know the difficulty you have to secure money. The reason you have that difficulty in securing money is that money is hiding, money took flight, money got scared in 1929 and went into the cellar, and that is one reason why we haven't come back as quickly as we should, that is one reason why unemployment has not decreased as it should, because small industry or the small business man today can not secure the funds that he needs, and he can not secure them because when people have money to invest they hunt around and they say, "Well, we had better put it where it is very, very liquid, that is, where we can get at it very, very quickly, or where we can sell the security."

I sat one night not long ago with a group of men in this city, who were trustees of a fund, and we had some money to invest, we needed the income to carry on the organization, and in looking around we considered all the different investments that could be made, and after very careful consideration we determined that there was only one thing we could do, which was to split that sum up into savings accounts of not more than five thousand dollars in any one bank, where we could get two percent inerest. That money would come out of its hiding if people who have finances and money to lend felt they could invest that money or could lend it with maximum security, to have it returned in a short length of time, and you would see a great expension of business and a great expansion of industry beyond that which we already have, and you would see that unemployment would be cut down very materially.

That is the problem that the Banking Department wanted to call to your attention, as presented in their report and which my young friend in his zeal to get a reduction in rates, thinks is going to benefit the borrower, has absolutely overlooked and forgotten all about the fact that this will not drive a number of these fellows out of business, but they will stay in business. He speaks of great big organizations, with ten million dollars capitalization, I do not think there is any Pennsylvania company with ten million dollars capitalization. Where is that money invested? It may be invested in the larger cities, with a larger return. It may be invested in states that have wage assignment laws or garnishee laws or chattel mortgage laws, to which the Department of Banking refers, and in those states the percentage of loss is such that the return is greater to the lender. But to come into Pennsylvania, into an industrial State, that has been hit hard during the depression, where the percentage of unemployment has been greater the last few years, to come into Pennsylvania without any garnishee law or without any chattel mortgage law, and then to say to those companies that there is not any great risk is to deny the facts that are plain and can be seen by every one. What will happen? You are going to help the little fellow. It is easy to take the average, as Mr. Flinchbaugh did, and say that the average is two and one-third percent. But remember the Banking Department report shows and the testimony shows that it is on the small loans down below the $150 mark, where the percentage of return is very slight.

Just look at this. "On loans of two and one-half percent the average return was 3.59 percent of net profit," according to the Banking Department. If all of these high figures which the gentleman from Philadelphia has put before us today are to be true of an entire industry, then the Banking Department is deceiving us in its report, and we certainly can not say that the Banking Department is deceiving us because they examine the reports of these companies, and it is upon the average of these reports and not upon the exception that we are discussing. Of the companies loaning at three percent, there is only $375,000 out of the total of thirty seven and one half million dollars loaned in Pennsylvania, and the average return with the three percent companies was 3.72 percent, while on the eleven million dollars loaned by the three and one-half percent companies 3.59 percent was the net average profit. The average for all of them, according to the Banking Department report,—and I do not believe that the gentleman from Philadelphia means to impugn that report,—the average was 6.84 percent.

There is another consideration which the gentleman from Philadelphia undoubtedly omits from his calculation, because he goes back into the 1927 and the 1928 figures, and then comes down into 1934 and 1935. The whole history of this industry as set forth by the Banking Department, is that losses have been greatest in the depression years. I hold in my hand a report issued by the Thrift and Investment Corporation of Pittsburgh. There are twenty-eight companies, all separate companies, they say, that belong to this particular group which has a certain system. They say that the average taxes paid by the twelve companies in 1932, out of gross income dollars equalled 5.60 percent. while the average taxes paid by eighteen companies in 1936 out of gross income dollars equalled 11.08 percent. In other words, between the period of 1932 and 1936 the taxes of these companies had doubled in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. And that tax not come from the borrower; it come out of the pockets of the corporations. And so I say to you, as Mr. Perry has said, if you will peruse this report, I do not believe that there is any one who will not be convinced that there was no justification even in the cut in the rate which the Banking Department made,—there isn't anything in this report on the basis of the 6.84 and the finding by the Banking Department that the companies charging rates of one percent had a loss of 2.01 percent; that the companies charging one and one-half percent had a loss of .20 percent; that on the companies charging two percent, they had a profit of 2.88 percent; that the companies charging two and one-half percent had a profit of 3.59 percent; the companies charging three percent had a profit of 7.32 percent; that the companies charging three and one-half percent had a profit of 3.59 percent, and that the companies charging an aggregate rate, that is the rate that changes on the amount as it went up, the one hundred and fifty dollar split, had 11.22 percent profit.

Where is there in that report anything to show any justification for a cut in the rate below three and one-half percent, when the average of the companies loaning eleven million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars was 3.59 percent. Where is there a justification and what will happen? The minute you carry this rate down below that which has been established as three and two, and carry, it into the two and one-half percent bracket up to $150 and one and one-half percent beyond, people making loans below one hundred and fifty dollars will be excluded, and a great number of them will be unable to find access to the loans that they want in Pennsylvania because the companies will not make that character of loan where there is a district loss, where experience shows that there is a loss. Therefore you will not benefit the small man, you cannot help him, he just won't get the loan. He won't be able to get the money unless he goes to one of those companies that operate outside the law, from those people who loan money outside the law, with rates up to 100, 200, and 300 percent.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia seemed to be surprised that the gentleman on this side would arise and praise the Banking Department. Of course his experience in this House only goes back a couple of months, but if he had been a member of this House from 1935 he would have known that I on the floor of this House on several occasions supported and helped to secure the passage of legislation introduced by the Banking Department. I have had contact with a number of the secretaries of banking. I have had contact with much legislation that has come from the Banking Department. I have always believed that legislation of the Banking Department was nonpartism, that it should be dealt with as a problem affecting all the people of Pennsylvania, and that there was no room in the minds of the legislators for and partisanship.

I have always found that the Banking Department was willing to sit down with us and discuss any differences that might exist in proposed legislation with the members of the House. In 1935 I had the pleasure of meeting the present Secretary of Banking. I found him to be very intelligent and I believe his department is honest. I believe the department was sincere and honest when it passed out this report. I do not think it is fitting or becoming to anyone else to rise upon this floor and say that the Banking Department in its report only went part way and did not disclose the earnings of large corporations. I believe if the earnings of large corporations, I believe if any appreciable percentage of the companies doing a small loan business in Pennsylvania had shown such large profits, I believe that the Banking Department would have so stated in its report. I do not believe that the Banking Department had any axe to grind. I do not believe that the Banking Department had any ulterior purpose. I do not believe that the Banking Department wanted to put the rate on three and two but that they would rather have put it at one percent, if they could. The Banking Department consists of intelligent men; it consists of men who are skilled in the banking business; it consists of men who have had contact with this small loan business for a number of years, and those men prepared a report and submitted it to this House and they prepared a bill and submitted it to this House, and upon the basis of that bill they said that the rate should be three and two and that it should split at one hundred dollars. Some of us differed with them on this and we made the split at one hundred fifty dollars, and the Banking Department made no objection to that split.

Therefore, in view of the situation that exists here, in view of the mis-statements, I will say, that have been made here and there about this business, in view of the fact that many people seem to consider the bill on the surface without knowing what the real facts are about it, when you consider that this business has been studied for years and there are row after row of volumes on the subject, when you consider that the Russell Sage Foundation decided that the right rate was three and one-half percent, when you consider the situation in New York, Connecticut and other states, when you find that the banking commissioners say when you put these rates down to those points, you are going to drive away the source of the small loan and throw them into the hands of a loan shark, how can you stand here and fight for that kind of a measure? In order that this measure may be brought back to its proper place and in order that we may have an opportunity for studying it, because there are many other good features of the bill, there are regulatory features in which we are all interested, things that will be good for the business and things that will be good for the borrower.

Therefore, I ask unanimous consent at this time to offer amendments to make this bill three and two, as it was when the Banking Department sent it over.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Delaware, the Chair would state that the bill has been agreed to on third reading. In order to submit his amendments he would have to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was agreed to on third reading.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill was agreed to on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. PEARSON filed the following reasons for his vote.

My reason for voting "No" on House Bill 794 are these:

The Bill as amended is not in conformity with the report submitted by the Banking Department and in its present form does not meet with the approval of the Banking Department.

The Bill as amended will impose a hardship on the smaller loan companies, forcing many of them out of business, and, in my opinion tends to set up a monopoly in the business of lending money in amounts up to $300.

The bill as it is now written cannot be considered an administration bill but rather a bill of an individual member who has only a slight knowledge of the small loan business.

Mr. SCHUMACHER filed the following reasons for his vote:

I am voting "No" on this Bill (H. R. 794) because it was amended contrary to the report of the Department of Banking

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 662.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 662, Printer's No. 381, entitled:

An Act to amend sections four hundred thirteen and seven hundred ten of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the negative.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Caputo vote on the final passage of the bill?

Mr. CAPUTO. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the negative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, owing to the fact that on Wednesday afternoon, when this bill was defeated, there were sixty-six members absent and the membership was quite restless, the bill did not have in my opinion a fair chance of passage. The vote on the bill at that time was 91 yeas and 55 nays, lacking 14 votes for passage. So out of respect for those members who were absent, I would ask the House to vote to reconsider this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. SPROUL filed the following reasons for his vote:

I am voting no on this bill on account of the effective date of the act which should be advanced to January 1, 1938. This will cost our county of Delaware about $50,000 and no provision has been made in this year's budget for it by any county.

Our counties operate under the uniform budget act and the tax rate has been set for the year. This expense was not provided for in their budget and the counties should have the opportunity to prepare for this expenditure.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of further study and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1304, entitled:

An Act to amend section eight of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (P. L. 75) entitled "An act in relation to the laying out opening widening straightening extending or vacating streets and alleys and the construction of bridges in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth the grading paving macadamizing or otherwise improving streets and alleys providing for ascertaining the damages to private property resulting therefrom the assessment of the damages costs and expenses thereof upon the property benefited and the construction of sewers and payment of the damages costs and expenses thereof including damages to private property resulting therefrom" as amended by providing for a temporary improvement or paving the assessment of costs and expenses upon property benefited thereby and assessment of costs and expenses upon property benefited by a subsequent permanent improvement upon credit being given for the prior assessment.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker this is the bill that I asked the gentleman from Allegheny to pass over for me last week. I have endeavored to give it some study, not only my own personal study but have referred it to other attorneys who I feel are familiar with municipal law. On page 4 of the bill, line 3, it says: "Upon petition of the property owners requesting a temporary improvement or paving the municipal corporation shall have the right to make the same the costs and expenses thereof being assessed against the property benefited in the manner heretofore provided." Now it does not say what number of property owners. I would, therefore, take it that under his bill it means all of the property owners. If that is the case it seems to me that is exactly in line with the present law and that if all the property owners are to petition, why should there be any need for this new act. I understand the intent of the gentleman from Allegheny to be that where there is a temporary improvement made the municipal authorities can pass an ordinance that shall provide for a new improvement and give a credit for a permanent improvement made, but if that is to be done on the petition of property owners the municipality now has the authority to do that, and the municipality will not go ahead and make an improvement if there is a danger that the property owners are going to come in and are going to say that the first improvement was the original improvement of paving and, therefore, they cannot charge for the second improvement under the law. But if that is to be done upon petition of the property owners, that can now be done under the present law and I can see no reason for this act.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny if he would not place this bill upon the postponed calendar until he has a chance to straighten it out and if his intent is what I think it is, then this bill needs amendment and clarification.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I did not understand clearly all that the gentleman from Delaware was saying because of the noise. I believe I was able to hear though the main part of his argument. For the benefit of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, I think it is a well settled law in this Commonwealth, from a long time of decisions beginning in 65 Pa. 146, that a municipality once having made an improvement cannot make a subsequent improvement on a street, that if a subsequent improvement is made it must be paid for by the city. That law is well settled in a long line of decisions both of our Supreme Court and our Superior Court. I shall not take the time to cite those decisions. This piece of legislation is designed to confer upon the municipality the right to make permanent improvement. The situation exists in the city of Pittsburgh now and no doubt in many other municipalities where they have made temporary improvements because of the lack of funds and then subsequently the municipality desires to make a permanent or a better improvement and under the law it cannot do so.

In answer to the contention of the gentleman on page 4, line 3, as I was able to hear it: This amendment does not change the procedure in any way whatsoever, it simply gives the municipality a right which it does not have, which it does not create by ordinance. A municipality cannot create by ordinance something that has not been conferred upon the municipality by legislative authority and under the well settled law legislative authority has not conferred upon the municipality the right to make a subsequent improvement and charge it to the abutting property owner. Therefore, this bill, simply creates a new right for the municipality upon petition to make some permanent or temporary improvement by the majority of the interests. The permanent improvement may be made with the cost deducted from the amount they paid for the temporary improvement.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I quite agree with the statement of the law as given by the gentleman from Allegheny in reference to improvements. I know nothing, however, in the law that says so-called temporary improvements can be assessed. If it is a street improvement it is assessed once under the long line of decisions which the gentleman from Allegheny has given, there is no question about it that there cannot be a second assessment, but I know of nothing in the municipal law that provides for the property owners and I might say that I have been in on this on a number of occasions, that if the property owners on a street come in to Council to improve the street and say that they will pay the costs of the improvements on that street there is nothing in the law to prevent Council from passing an ordinance and passing upon the petition if there is an agreement by the property owners that the municipality would have the right to assess and that is the reason why I think this bill is unnecessary, because if it is to be done upon the petition of all the property owners then it is perfectly simple for Council and the property owners on a petition by the property owners in which the property owners agree that they shall be assessed, and then having agreed that they shall be assessed the municipality goes ahead and does the work.

What the gentlemen from Allegheny is apparently endeavoring to get at is that he wants to be able to give a credit, is that not correct?

Mr. BROWN. It is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, for a first improvement upon which a lien has been filed and for which payment has been secured from the property owners?

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Well then, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman intends that they shall give a credit that likewise can be taken care of, can it not, in the original petition?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, it cannot. I will refer the gentleman to the long line of decisions if he wants them. Beginning in 65 Pennsylvania, Pa. 246, down to Pa. 219. 513. I won't clutter up the record with the rest of them, but these are cases in which the Supreme Court has held unanimously that once an improvement is made, though it may be temporary in character, the abutting property owners cannot be charge for further improvement.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do not agree with the gentleman from Allegheny that if it is temporary in character a further improvement cannot be charged for, because if a municipality throws cinders on a street that might be called a temporary improvement, but that is not such an improvement for which an assessment cannot be made, subsequently upon a permanent improvement, because all of that line of holds that the question is whether the improvement is a permanent improvement or not. Now in this case the question is not to my mind whether this arises where the municipality has sought to charge the property owners for an improvement, but is it not true that in all those cases there was a petition by the property owners in which they agreed to pay for the second improvement.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Turner, a number of these cases turned on the point where the municipality attempted to put down a temporary street improvement with the idea of making a permanent or a more substantial improvement later on, and when the municipality attempted to make this more substantial or a more permanent improvement the taxpayer went into court and enjoined the municipality from levying an assessment against the abutting property owners on the very theory,—I think the law is well settled as I take it from these cases,—that regardless of the nature of the improvement,—and I think there is where the gentleman from Delaware is in error,—some of these improvements are just the ordinary grading and throwing cinders on the ground after the abutting property owners had asked for these improvements or the municipality did not see fit to put down permanent improvements and then later attempted to do so but could not do so under the law.

In Pittsburgh we have some two hundred streets, I am informed, where the city can well afford to put down some form of pavement, probably not permanent. I might say to the gentleman from Delaware that a large number of streets in our cities are not improved by permanent improvements on property lines and other things.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to differ with the gentleman from Allegheny, and there is no use our continuing to argue. Neither one of us perhaps has cases here. I have lost some of these cases and I think I know that line of decisions pretty nearly backwards and forwards, and I think that I am safe in saying to the gentleman from Allegheny that if he will sit down with me and check up these cases, while it is true that the claim of the municipality is that the original improvement was not permanent, that the defense raised has been on the basis that the improvement was a permanent improvement and that is the only basis upon which they can defend in those cases. Now then if they can get all of the property owners to sign a petition then there is no difficulty at all. I have handled a number of these cases on a number of streets. Then there is no difficulty for the property owners to sign a petition and getting them to agree, then there is no difficulty in collecting.

I dislike to oppose a bill which has such a far reaching effect but there is such well established law and so many decisions on the subject and the codes have been established for it so long that I am afraid this bill may raise further litigation instead of squelching it.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 64, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred and one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 853) entitled "An act relating to taxation designating the subjects property and persons subject to and exempt from taxation for all local purposes providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of persons property and subjects of taxation for county purposes and for the use of those municipal and quasi-municipal corporations which levy their taxes on county assessments and valuations amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto and repealing existing laws" making the real estate of public service companies subject to taxation and providing certain exceptions.

On the question

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and gentlemen of the House: This bill in my opinion is unfair and unjust. It purports to be a tax on wealth for the benefit of the poor. But if enacted it will actually add to the cost of living of thousands of people while benefitting unfairly a comparative few at the expense of the many.

Ladies and gentleman, it is common knowledge that this bill was jammed through the Democratic caucus last week with a bare majority of votes by orders of the party bosses.

You have seen the reasonable amendments offered on the floor of this House, by which the bill would have been robbed of most of its inequalities, first withdrawn by their original author, reluctantly complying to the mandate of the Governor's office, and then when re-introduced laid on the table as Democratic party leaders stood on the side-lines and cracked the whip.

Seldom has this House seen such a disgraceful display of political force ruthlessly exerted to compel members to vote against the dictates of their consciences.

This bill, if enacted, would make power generating and distributing plants pay local taxes to the communities in which they are located.

These plants serve huge territories, from which the revenues to support them are collected for services widely rendered.

Thus it must be apparent that, while the immediate units of governments in which these plants are located would benefit from this bill, the taxes which the utility would pay to it would have to come from the pockets of utility patrons in a score, or a hundred, other political sub-divisions which would receive not one cent of the taxes imposed.

Members of the House, this bill is part and parcel of a lot of other tax bills typical of an Administration, which cries from the housetops its friendship for the common man and its desire to relieve him of some of his burdens, while it continues to dip more and more deeply, and more and more frequently, into the pay envelope of every wage-earner and the purse of every housewife in the Commonwealth.

The Governor has repeatedly asserted his intent to put the burden of taxes on those best able to pay. But we note in his recent budget message $19,500,000 collected in cigarette taxes the past two years, $23,000,000 collected in emergency gasoline taxes, $34,400,000 in personal property taxes, much of which was taken from the paltry savings of the thrifty poor; $6,700,000 from amusement taxes, and $650,000 from taxes on building and loan shares—a total of $84,250,000.

Who paid the large bulk of this $84,000,000?

The rich?

You and I know it was the poor who carried that load, and who will continue to carry most of it for two more years.

How much food, how many new dresses, how many new automobiles, how many little luxuries would eighty-four million dollars buy?

Answer me that, and you will have told me how greatly this Administration, which now comes before us with a new and unjust tax bill, has already robbed our people of opportunities for cheaper or better living.

Last week we were told that a new tax on food, through the imposition of a levy on chain stores, is necessary to raise the salaries of unpaid school teachers in certain of our districts.

I sympathize with these teachers. They ought to receive more. But if Governor Earle will fire a lot of recently hired and unnecessary State employes, there will be available for these teachers and others a total of at least $10,000,000, without levying another cent of tax on anybody, or adding to anybody's utility rates, as the bill now before us is certain to do.

The last figures available to me covering the State payroll are those of last September, and these totals, I am reliably informed, have considerably increased since then.

So when I tell you that the State was then meeting a yearly payroll at the rate of $38,921,584.68, an increase of ten million dollars in one year's time, I am being conservative.

And these figures do not include the army of per diem and hourly employes, the numbers of which are cleverly concealed in that mysterious maze of accounting passing under the name of State bookkeeping.

Taxes—open taxes on the rank and file of our citizenship—and hidden taxes on every article of clothing we wear and every bite of food we eat, are rapidly driving this nation down the broad road of inflation leading to such an economic catastrophe as threatens to make the late unpleasantness of 1929 resemble a Sunday School picnic by comparison.

And here we have, in House Bill No. 64, another inflationary measure, another excuse for utilities to advance their rates, another certain burden on the budgets of the poor.

Members of the House, I bid you turn from taxes to economy as a cure for our ills. I bid you give your thoughts to taking off some of the taxes we now have, instead of the imposition of new taxes, I ask you, therefore, to vote against this measure, which a majority of you must know in your hearts, is, in its present form, unworthy of your support.

Mr. MARINO. Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly, the problem that is before this House is one that has been before the people of this Commonwealth. It was an issue in the last compaign. The subject was thoroughly discussed at almost every meeting by speakers representing both political parties. At the election the citizenry decided by an overwhelming majority that no favoritism should be shown to any group in matters of taxation. An unmistakable mandate, a clear, simple and specific command has been directed to each of the members of this House. Surely this is an Assembly that does recognize the will of a sovereign people. Surely we are equal to the task of enacting into law the desires of the people.

Let us show the electorate that we are a responsible body, ever-alert to the public pulse. Let our actions be such as to justify the faith that the people have placed in us.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. SIMON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1053, entitled:

An Act to amend section one as re-enacted sections two and three as amended sections four and five and section six as amended of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (P. L. 119) entitled "An act for the promotion of medical science by the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies for scientific purposes through a board created for that purpose and to prevent unauthorized uses and traffic in human bodies" by changing the personnel and increasing the powers and duties of the Anatomical Board of the State of Pennsylvania providing further for the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies fixing the time for the claiming and distribution of bodies and the duties of carriers of bodies requiring thoses receiving bodies to give bond and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finaly?

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, yields to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea, whether a coroner can better dispose of a body than a county commissioner?

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, a Democratic coroner can.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to follow that question up. What would be the difference in treatment.

Mr. SHEA. Well, gentlemen—or Mr. McDevitt, the difference in treatment is—

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the remark of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea, be expunged from the record. He apparently cast aspersions upon the gentleman from Philadelphia in calling him no gentleman.

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, if I called the gentleman from Philadelphia no gentleman I want it expunged from the record. I don't think I did though.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman care to answer that question.

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman please repeat the question. I did not understand the gentleman.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman what would be the difference in the disposition of a body by a Democratic coroner as against a county commissioner?

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman has been led into a trap. It is a matter of history, and in answering the question I am going to differentiate between the Republican members of this House and the members who made up the House from the city of Philadelphia five years ago when a suicide's bullet—

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will yield, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill? I know it is rather late but I would like to interrogate the sponsor.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Tronzo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TRONZO. Mr. Speaker, I again yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SHEA. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McDEVITT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to discuss the merits of this bill because it involves a subject that perhaps only a doctor can understand. The feature that I am interested in is that which would give an exception or possibly a special privilege, or whatever you might choose to call it, to the people of Philadelphia and particularly to the coroner's office. We have here a bill that would provide a situation entirely different from that in any other part of the State. You will recall that we had an election in 1935 and elected all Republican office holders, but now with a Democratic Legislature, it appears to be a great opportunity to sort of reverse the will of the people. Here we have a bill that provides that in every county having a coroner and in every county having a county commissioner that the county commissioner shall dispose of the body in every county in the State except in Philadelphia where the coroner shall dispose of it. I think it is only fair to the city of Philadelphia, and particularly to the county commissioners, to point out that this is a sanitary service and I hate to believe that the Democratic leaders of Philadelphia are sincere in their efforts to pass such a measure as this bill and that they are so desperate that they would engage in a body snatching contest between the coroner and the county commissioner. After all, these bodies are those of paupers and perhaps a pauper does not have very much status, but nevertheless it is a high handed proposition, and I think it is only fair that the members of the House should understand it and the people of Pennsylvania should understand it. Personally I am going to vote "no." I did not want to criticize the bill of the gentleman from Allegheny and that is why I asked to interrogate him.

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have the greatest admiration in the world for my adversary, Mr. McDevitt, and I also have the greatest admiration in the world for the Republican members of this House. I am sorry that they have been led into a trap on this bill, because the bodies were taken away from the Republican coroner, Mr. Sellers, who at that time committed suicide and who robbed every body that came into his custody, and not only that but the authors of this bill, who are four men high up in educational attainments, Prof. Addinell H. Ewson, Prof. J. Parsons Schaeffer, Prof. John H. Clark, of the University of Pennsylvania, and Prof. Henry Raddash, personal friend of mine, and a professor in the Jefferson Medical College, all Republicans—the authors of this bill are all Republicans, and it was at a conference with those gentlemen that this Bill No. 1053 was arrived at. You all know back five years ago when the first onslaught was made politically in the city of Philadelphia, when the old organization there got its first knock through the coroner's office, and then Addinell H. Ewson asked for the privilege of taking the bodies away from the office of the coroner and the coroner at that time said to him. "I will get you." He wanted to pick the living as well as the dead. We all know what happened. Every headline in the papers showed it at that time. I was living very close to his home on Oxford Street at that time when the word went out through that great city of ours, his controversy with Ben Golder, we knew then that the Republican party was licked throughout the State of Pennsylvania and our forecast was fulfilled Now Mr. Witkins, formerly of this House, has made insulting remarks about this bill. He said that the Democratic party was engaged in grave stealing, in ghoulism and all that sort of thing, but let me tell you that the last election in the State of Pennsylvania was a selective affair. On the Republican side of this House are selected gentlemen. "Selected" is right. Mr. Witkin is not with them and we were afraid of Mr. Witkin and as a result we have—

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman discussing the merits of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Delaware desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. SPROUL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shea, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHEA. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he is making a political speech or discussing the merits of the bill?

Mr. SHEA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Sproul. I will try to adhere to the question, but the question was put to me as to why I was trying to have the work done by the coroner in Philadelphia. The reason I am doing so is because we have an honest coroner in Philadelphia, thank God. Mr. Speaker,

I think that is reason enough for placing the bodies where they are to be placed. We have had quite a few casualties in the city of Philadelphia, and our investigating committees, our friends, who are going down there are going to have all kinds of casualties, and when they arrive we want to have somebody to take care of them. I know that there has been a complaint recently from the coroner that his morgue is cluttered up with bodies because he cannot get any cooperation from the county commissioners of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I thought this was sort of a dead issue but the gentleman from Philadelphia in his usual jocular manner and with his great force and vehemence has turned it into a real issue. Now he said something that was rather enlightening to me. I have not thought very much about this bill, I have not been very much interested as to who shall dispose of the bodies, whether it be the county commissioners or the coroner. Of course, it rather disappointed me to note that in this bill they did not leave the spinal column for the chiropractors, but as long as the medical profession feels that they have got to have it all we won't raise any question about that. However, the gentleman from Philadelphia was very enlightening, he was very honest in his statement. He said they were leading us into a trap. Now when somebody tells me that they are leading me into a trap I generally sort of button up my pockets and look around for something like a rock that I can use in case of trouble, and so I have looked at this bill again to see just where we are going. This bill is rather peculiar. It starts out talking about bodies and then it gets down to where dentists become medical doctors, because they have a section here which reads, "Any physician or dentist licensed to practice medicine." Of course, when a dentist becomes licensed to practice medicine, as I understand the laws of the Commonwealth, he becomes a medical doctor; he is not a dentist any longer he is a medical doctor. So I have been wondering why you should put this section in unless it is intended to give the dentists the same opportunity. Somebody pointed out that under this bill if a dentist should pull out your tooth and then have it taken across the bridge to Camden to have it filled, say, he would be liable to fine and imprisonment, on the ground that he was snatching somebody from a dead body. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I do not think that under this bill we are being led into a trap, but I have been wondering as to whether or not it should be changed by some amendment, amending, of course, that part that gives the body to the coroner and also to take out that part that makes dentists licensed practising physicians in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken as follows, viz:

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ominsky.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OMINSKY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he is not one of the sponsors of House Bill No. 851.

Mr. OMINSKY. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, under Article 4, of House Bill No. 851, Printer's No. 445, is not the power given to the commission to determine the very thing that is contained in House Bill No. 76?

Mr. OMINSKY. That is partly correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. In what respect is it not correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, the new section in House Bill No. 851 relating to full crews gives the commission power to step in at places where it is necessary for safety, whereas this bill makes it mandatory.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it not the opinion of the gentleman that it would be better to give the commission the power to step into places where it is necessary than to make it a uniform rule?

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the question of the gentleman from Delaware, I would say that at this time I am not prepared to answer the question. We are now on House Bill No. 76 making it mandatory upon the commission or upon the railroads to have a full crew and if he wants my opinion about this bill I will be glad to give it to him.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I am not asking the gentleman about this bill. I thank him very much. I have had perhaps more letters from people in my county asking me to vote against this bill than on any measure that is now before the House. I have had no request to vote for this bill. If House Bill No. 851 is to be enacted and if there is a necessity for a full crew bill, it seems to me that the proper approach lies under No. 851. In other words, where the Public Service Commission determines that there is a necessity for more men upon these trains, then the Commission can so determine after hearing and examination of the facts. This bill would make it mandatory on all of the railroads and under all the conditions and circumstances I am going to vote against this bill.

Mr. REISING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I had hoped that there would be no discussion on this bill but since there seems to be some question as to whether or not this manadatory bill would be preferable to the authority of the Commission I might say this that the members of the Commission, I am certain none of whom are now or ever have been in actual train service and not having been in actual train service it will probably be equally as difficult to make them understand the necessity for additional men as has been our experience in the past with the present Public Service Commission. I just want to give for the benefit of the members of this House a few figures here as to why additional men are required on trains at this time and have been for a considerable length of time. For instance, in tests made by railroad men of experience with perfect vision, in good health in every respect, on a train sixty cars in length there were thirty-five signals given thirty-three of them were understood and two were misunderstood. A train of seventy cars in length, thirty-five signals were given, thirteen understood and twenty-two misunderstood. A train eighty cars in length, forty-five signals were given, three were understood and forty-two misunderstood. A train of ninety cars in length, twenty-five signals given, one understood and twenty-four misunderstood.

Now, what does it mean to misinterpret or misunderstand a signal in train service? It means that some one's life or limb is likely to be taken, and therefore it is a safety measure and one of the most important that can be thought of, and I would ask the members of this House, —there is no use of my taking up a lot of time here as you all have heard the arguments pro and con,—we have had public hearings,—therefore, I would ask your support of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. PERRY filed the following reasons for his vote:

Since the presentation of this bill to the House of Representatives, there has been forwarded to me, and are now in my possession, many petitions opposing the passage of this bill.

One of these petitions came from the Altoona Works Local No. 42 of the Brotherhood Shop Crafts of America, representing more than eleven thousand employes of the Locomotive and Car Departments of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Altoona Works. Similar petitions are signed by many hundreds of business men and laboring men of my Legislative District. These petitions oppose the passage of the bill, alleging that it will seriously retard the prosperity of their community, and will necessitate a stringent curtailment of employment, and by reason thereof hurt the working man of my community and his dependents.

Therefore, because of such widespread and definite objection by many of my constituents, and believing that these petitions represent the public opinion of my Legislative District. In response to these petitions, I cast a negative vote on this bill.

Mr. SOLLENBERGER filed the following reason for his vote:

During the past two months there has been sent and handed to me, and now in my possession, petitions signed by hundreds of business, professional, and laboring men from my Legislative District on House Bill No. 76, commonly known as Full Crew Bill. Eighty-five (85%) per cent of these petitions are in opposition to the above named bill.

Therefore, because of this widespread and definite objection upon the part of such a large number of my constituents, and in response to their petitions, I am casting a negative vote upon this bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. YOURISHIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION REQUESTED FOR COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask consent of the House to call a meeting of the Committee on Education in the House Caucus Room immediately.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know why it requires the unanimous consent of this House for a committee to hold a meeting during a session of this House?

The SPEAKER. It does not require unanimous consent, it only requires the consent of the House under the rules.

Mr. O'CONNOR. I object, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its consent for the Committee on Education to meet during the session of the House?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Education, Mr. Brownfield, as to his reasons for wanting to hold this meeting?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that an interrogation would be in order, provided the gentleman will permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brownfield.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, what is the regular time for the meetings of this committee?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Wednesday mornings, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, has there been a meeting called for tomorrow?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask what is the purpose of calling the meeting tonight?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, to consider Senate Bill No. 369, the Teachers Tenure Bill.

Mr. TURNER. And, Mr. Speaker, what is the particular haste on that?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, it is thought this Tenure Bill ought to be passed by April 1 if it is going to do the good it is hoped it will do for teachers who might be dismissed during April.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, under what conditions would they be dismissed during April and how would this bill save them?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. By the blanket dismissals, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, how would this bill save them from that?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, this Tenure Bill would put teachers under tenure and they cannot be dismissed after the bill goes in effect.

Mr. TURNER. Do not their contracts now existing continue on, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, sixty days before the end of the term the boards must act sixty days before the end of the term or the contract is continued.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, most of the school district terms end on the first day of June, do they not?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, some school districts have their terms ending in April, the last of April, and of course those teachers, many of them, have already been dismissed.

Mr. TURNER. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that there was a meeting arranged for nine o'clock tomorrow morning?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OMINSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. OMINSKY. The point of order, Mr. Speaker, is that the gentleman from Delaware by his interrogation is discussing the merits of the bill and we are now on a request for consent as to whether or not the Committee on Education may meet at once.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks that the point of order is well taken, that the merits of the bill are being discussed, but in order to explain the reasons for calling the meeting the Chair sees where it is necessary to discuss the bill. The Chair will ask the gentlemen to confine their remarks to the motion before the House and to refrain from discussing the merits of the bill as much as possible.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I have asked the gentleman to explain why he is calling a meeting at this time. In answer thereto he has stated that the reason is haste. In answer to that I cannot do anything else but ask him questions which must be pertinent to the bill. I am not discussing the merits of the bill. May I not merely ask him questions which pertain to his reason?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is attempting to give the gentlemen as much latitude as possible and ask the gentlemen to proceed, refraining from discussing the merits of the bill as much as possible.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Brownfield further.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the Committee on Education agreed to meet at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, that was talked about in the meeting last week. However, the bill has now been out for first reading, comes up for second reading tomorrow, and for third reading on Wednesday, that is the shortest possible time in which it could be acted on to be within the sixty day period.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if amendments are desired what opportunity has any one to offer amendments if the bill were reported out tonight and were passed on second reading tomorrow.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. In the meeting last week, Mr. Speaker, the members were asked to have their amendments, all amendments they desired submitted no later than today, so that those amendments would be ready now.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding that a number of men who desired to submit amendments had the understanding that they were to submit their amendments at the meeting tomorrow morning.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Of course, Mr. Speaker, we said nothing last week about this meeting tonight. The only way we can get the bill through within the sixty day period, would be to meet tonight. I do not suppose we thought of that last week or it would have been taken up.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that some of the contracts expire in April and that in some of the school districts the terms do not end until the end of June, the sixty day period is not of very great value, is it?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Practically all of the terms end, Mr. Speaker, along toward the last of May, I believe. Very few of them run into June, some of them do.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, most of the schools in my county run until about the 20th of June, or about the 25th of June.

Mr. BROWNFIELD. That is very much later, Mr. Speaker, than they run in most places. A great many of them would be out by the 20th of May, I believe.

Mr. TURNER. Of coure, It would be too late on the twentieth of April for the sixty days, would it not, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. BROWNFIELD. Mr. Speaker, in many districts it is too late already.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN and Mr. OMINSKY and were as follows:

SECOND PRELIMINARY REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE COST OF GOVERNMENT IN THE CITY AND COUNTY OF PHILADELPHIA

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have been asked by the committee appointed to investigate the costs and functions of City and County Government in Philadelphia to make a report on another phase of their investigation. I have prepared, and will file with the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the House, a record, for reference purposes, of the testimony taken during the investigation of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia County. There has also been prepared, and will be field, a written report of the findings, conclusions and recommendations of this committee with reference to this court; and I think it incumbent upon me as chairman of the committee to make a statement relative to that report, so that when the recommendations embodied in bills, some of which have been and others of which will be submitted to the Senate and House, come before the members of the Assembly there will be a complete understanding of why this legislation has been introduced.

I think the President Pro-Tempore of this Senate will recall that in 1913 he was a member of this Senate when the bill proposing and creating the Municipal Court of Philadelphia was presented and, later, came before this body for action. The discussion appears in the Legislative Journal for June 16, 1913, on page 4296, where Senator Huffman reminded the members that the maintenance of this proposed "Poor Man's Court" was estimated to be $150,000 annually.

Senator Buckman, Senator Salus, Senator Sones and our present President Pro Tempore voted against the bill for the creation of the court, on the ground that there was no necessity for its existence. In the discussion the late Senator Edwin H. Vare suggested that this was intended to be a court to which the poor man, who had a small claim, could go and obtain justice without delay. He said, "the poorer and middle classes, who have small cases, are just as much entitled to good decisions and good judges as the larger cases." It was also stated that this court would be one in which problems having to do with family relationships could be dealt with on a high plane.

When the members of the Senate receive their copies of the committee's second preliminary report, which deals with this subject, I suggest that they turn to page 8, which gives a tabulation of the number of employes and the budgetary requests of this court for each year from 1915 to and including 1924. We have been unable to find the appropriation for the year 1914, the year this court began to function, but in 1915 it had 167 employes, and an appropriation of $235,000. In 1918 it had 345 employes, and an appropriation of $455,700. In 1922 the court had 602 employes, and an appropriation of $896,875; and for the three years following it had the same number of employes and the same expenditure. From 1930 down to 1936 the employes numbered, with a variation of one or two, around 563; and the total appropriation, with the exception of one year, when a voluntary reduction of one-third in salary was taken by all employes, was $1,050,000.

Mr. President, this does not include other expenses of this court, which through subterfuge, were borne by other departments of city government, because of their performing certain functions for the Municipal Court. For instance, the Sheriff of Philadelphia County serves the writs of the Municipal Court, which function costs his department a sum in excess of $75,000 annually; the Clerk of Quarter Sessions Court maintains a service for the Municipal Court, in the Domestic Relations Division, where he employs clerks, assistant clerks, bookkeepers, accountants, investigators and probation officers, whose payroll amounts to some $80,000 annually. The Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas, using the clerks assigned to him, is also the Prothonotary for the Municipal Court and this extra service entails an annual budgetary appropriation for his department in the amount of another $80,000. So that, in addition to the figures that appear in this tabulation as the annual budgetary request for the Municipal Court there should appear this extra expenditure which totals in excess of $250,000, and in 1936 the budget for this court would not appear as $1,050,000, but would be swelled by another quarter million.

This so-called "small claims court", this "Poor Man's Court", has grown to be an octopus; and, what is more important, the Domestic Relations Division has been used primarily for the purpose of giving political preferment in payment of political debts.

Of the 563 employes of the court, your committee has found that not more than ten per cent. of them are fitted for the positions by either training or experience. There has been the same parade from one political office to another and thence into the Municipal Court that your committee found in other departments of City Government already investigated. We have found employes engaged in the work of the Domestic Relations Division who had little or no idea of what family relationships are all about. Some of these employes could not even sign their own names,—which was natural because of the fact that some of them had never gone to school. I am glad to say the instances of this are few, but it remains that this condition does exist; and these employes have had the responsibility of directing the future of children, solving the promblems of homes and families.

There have been persons on this payroll who have at the same time been on the payroll of the Federal Government, and even conducting a private business in addition thereto. On the other hand, employes of training and experience have been receiving the munificent salary of $1500 a year, for as long as fifteen years past, while committeemen and other political workers, possessed of neither training nor experience for their positions, have been receiving from two to three thousand dollars.

The friends and relatives of the judges themselves have been placed on the payroll, and remain there in spite of the fact that the newspapers have carried the story. One of the judges of this court, the President Judge, has a brother and two sisters on the payroll, and has had them there for twenty years. The brother was so afflicted that he was unable to perform any duties unless led around. This, of course, was an unfortunate affliction, and, under other circumstances, would command our sympathy; but it presents another aspect when one considers the fact that another employe was added to the payroll for the purpose of leading him around, an employe at $3,000 a year, while for the last twenty years he himself has been receiving an annual salary of $5,000.

This court, which was intended to be a "Poor Man's Court", and a court which would deal with social welfare and family relationship problems, has become nothing more nor less than a political hotbed, a place where all that is necessary, as witness after witness brazenly stated, to get a job was to go to the committeeman, or to the ward leader, whoever he may be, and convince him that the applicant was entitled to compensation for political activity,—and that is the way the debt would be paid. The card index system maintained by this court, in the office of the President Judge, contains information as to the political sponsors of the applicants, the ward and the division in which each lives,—and not a word about his qualifications for the office for which he has applied.

Those in charge of domestic relations, women of intelligence and experience, openly stated that they could do a good job if given cooperation, but that they were prevented from doing good work because they had no control over the hiring and firing of their assistants.

The Act of 1923 was passed by this Assembly for the purpose of taking away from the President Judge of this court, who was then in disfavor with dominant political faction, the power of appointment; and this power was placed in the hands of the Board of Judges. However, it became evident that instead of the Board of Judges appointing the personnel this same President Judge usurped the power, and for years has been appointing employes, has been dismissing employes, has been increasing salaries above the statutory limits, and has been doing all this for political purposes. For over two years there were no regular meetings of the Board of Judges, as is required by law; and, when finally the attention of the President Judge was called to the fact, by the City Controller, that payments were being made illegally to the persons not properly on the payroll, salaries had been increased beyond the amount fixed by the statute, the Board of Judges was hastily convened at a meeting called for the purpose of confirming the illegal actions of the President Judge.

The President Judge of this court has, as his share of the payroll, to compensate political henchmen in his ward, the astounding sum of $110,000 annually—very little less than the total amount estimated to maintain the entire work of the court when the bill for its creation was first introduced into this Assembly.

The making of this report, and the signing of it, was no pleasure to me, because on that bench sit two men who for years have been my very good friends. With one of them I had been associated for a long time in the practice of law. He was my partner when he was elevated to the bench. The other of these two men has been my personal friend—I had known him since before the time I went with him to Camp Dix, when he entered the service of his country for participation in the World War; and I well remember when he returned, after having been terribly wounded. These two men are men of integrity and ability; and it was no pleasant task for me to reach the conclusions which, as a member of this committee, I have, together with the other members, reached. But I am constrained to place before this Senate the conclusions your committee has arrived at, and to say that we feel they are the correct conclusions from this testimonty.

CONCLUSIONS

1. The Municipal Court was formed for the purpose of aiding prompt and inexpensive disposition of the poor man's claims.

2. It was also established for the purpose of establishing in the City of Philadelphia an intelligent, efficient and enlightened administration of domestic and juvenile problems

3. The Municipal Court possessed, in the beginning, the opportunity and the means for carrying out its original purposes.

4. The desire on the part of the judges in charge of the administration of these important functions to step out of their character and become more than they were intended to be, is one of the causes to which can be attributed the failure of this great movement.

5. It is evident that from the start the Judges of the Municipal Court cast avaricious and jealous eyes upon their fellow Judges in the Court of Common Pleas; and the objective seems to have been to increase both the jurisdiction and the salary of the Judges to the point where the Municipal Court would be upon a par, in standing and activities, with the Court of Common Pleas; and in an effort to reach this "zenith of attainment" the original purposes of the Court were lost sight of.

7. This attitude led to the inevitable: in order to attain the desired objective, resistance to political influence meant the failure to attain increased judisdiction and increased salary. With each encroachment upon the territory of the Common Pleas Court the usefulness of the Municipal Court decreased, and the independence of the Municipal Court diminished. To barter political appointments to the Court for Acts of the Legislature became a regular procedure; and having been begun, there was no stopping place. As a result, the Municipal Court has become a hot-bed of politics and a "sweet haven for politicians and political indigents," and nepotism has run rampant.

8. In the rise of this one hundred fifty thousand dollar experiment to a million dollar octopus the citizens of Philadelphia have seen the best example of what politics and politicians can do to a Court.

9. Your Committee concludes that the condition is intolerable; that it must be ended promptly.

10. Your Committee concludes that while one of the Judges instigated the system, it could have been perpetuated only with the aid of the Board of Judges

11. Your Committee concludes that the actions of the President Judge were in violation of the Acts of Assembly.

12. Your Committee concludes that the President Judge openly flaunted the provisions of the law, and that all appointments made by him without the approval of the Board of Judges were illegal.

13. Your Committee concludes that when the Board of Judges, on December 4, 1936, acted upon and approved actions the President Judge had already taken, they approved illegal expenditures, and did it knowingly.

14. Your Committee concludes that this final approval of the Board of Judges, given to illegal actions of their President, does not change either the legal or moral aspect of the situation.

15. Your Committee concludes that the Board of Judges knew that the acts of the President Judge were illegal.

16. Your Committee concludes that the Board of Judges had neither a moral nor a legal right to confirm these illegal appointments.

17. Your Committee concludes that the responsibility for the continuance of the condition lies with the whole Board, especially in view of the fact that meetings of the Board were not held regularly as required by law.

18. Your Committee concludes that the number and compensation of employes in the Municipal Court is excessive, unnecessary and wasteful.

19. Your Committee concludes that the condition can not be remidied except by striking at the root.

20. Your Committee concludes that the social and welfare work, including the care and rehabilitation of juveniles and juvenile delinquents, is an important function in the community, and must be preserved; and that this important work can be preserved only by beginning all over again, so far as the administration of these functions are concerned.

21. Your Committee concludes that these functions can be preserved best by the establishment of a new Court for the administration of these necessary and important activities; and that it is essential that such a Court, in which shall be vested exclusive control of all family relationships and social welfare, must be free from political pressure and activities.

22. Your Committee concludes that the success of any system dealing with the lives and welfare of any group of our citizens depends upon the human element; and when the administration of such a system has been placed in the hands of the judiciary, from whom the people have a right to expect competent and honest performance of their duty, and that expectation has not been realized, that Court has lost the right to administer that or any other system of social welfare. Especially is this true where the failure to administer is due not only to acts of omission but also to deliberate acts of commission amounting to violation of the law of the Commonwealth,—and this by a body charged with the enforcement of these laws. Again we say, the hope for success of the system depends upon the human element.

23. The delivery of this Court and its important functions to the use and for the benefit of political organizations and politically minded individuals is an indictment against the judicial system, and unless the Legislature, charged with the duty of creating judicial administrative bodies, acts and acts promptly, the confidence of the people in law and order enforcement will be lost.

24. No fair, open-minded citizen can read the record in this case, and follow the history of this Court as disclosed by that record, and be willing to trust this same Court with the further administration of its important duties.

25. For twenty long years this Court has been nothing more than an arm of the political organization in power in Philadelphia. It was commonly assumed, even by the employes and the committeemen, that the Municipal Court was the pay-off for political activity. Witness after witness brazenly admitted that he procured his job in the Municipal Court because of his ability to deliver politically, and that it was secured through the sponsorship of his political leader. It may be stated that this is to be expected in politics; but it must not be conceded as an admitted fact when applied to a Court intended to administer justice.

26. Every good citizen knows that the bulwark of a democracy is the enforcement of law and order. Every student of the constitution will admit that the success or failure of our democratic form of government depends upon the enforcement of law and order. And every student of government knows that the enforcement of law and order depends upon the respect of the community for its courts; that the loss of respect for the Court carries with it the destruction of the foundation of a popular government.

It is because we believe, with due respect to the ability and integrity of some of the Judges of the Municipal Court, that as a group they have forfeited the right to administer the Court and its functions; and we further believe that with the appointments to No. 6 Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia as our assurance that the judges of the new courts will be men of integrity and ability, we can look forward to a re-establishment of confidence in the courts; and all of the people of the Commonwealth will have a just right to be proud of the new courts, that we make the following

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That there should be established, as speedily as possible, in Philadephia County, a Court of record, which shall have jurisdiction over all family problems,—which shall include desertion, non-support, divorce, juvenile and moral delinquency and related questions now within the jurisdiction of the Municipal Court.

2. That there should be transferred to this Court all of the jurisdiction now exercised by the Municipal Court, including its welfare, medical and social functions, and all other functions except the civil jurisdiction.

3. That there should be established a Small Claims Court, with jurisdiction in civil actions involving amounts up to $500; that it shall be a Court of record, and that it shall hear cases without jury trials and under such provisions as will enable it inexpensively and speedily to dispose of the cases brought before it.

4. That the Judges of both Courts shall be prohibited by law from engaging in any political activity; and that the employes of both courts shall be appointed under the merit system, which shall become effective immediately upon the organization of the courts; and that all of the employes of these courts shall likewise be prohibited from engaging in any form of political activity, and the establishment of the merit system will insure to those present employes of the Municipal Court qualified by experience and training an opportunity for re-employment with the new courts. Of course, there can be no hope for those employes of the Municipal Court whose only claim to the positions they hold is political sponsorship or family relationship.

5. That the jurisdiction exercised by the Municipal Court, other than that transferred to these two courts, shall, wherever necessary, by proper legislation, be transferred to the Court of Common Pleas; and that part of the jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas to be vested in either or both of these courts to be created shall be transferred by proper legislation to either or both of them.

Mr. President, your committee hopes that with the creation of a new court in the County of Philadelphia to administer domestic relations and take care of the social problems of children—the future citizens of this great Commonwealth, we will be able to find men who can be trusted. And I think that this is a time when we can join with the poet and pray:

MUNICIPAL COURT MINORITY REPORT

March 30, 1937.

To Honorable Harry E. Shapiro, Chairman, Joint Committee.

The undersigned member disagrees with your majority report in re Municipal Court. This Court is right in structure and efficient in function. It has become cursed with political patronage.

I propose to remove this curse by introducing the merit system of personnel (see Senate Bill No.538); also by seting up of a Small Claims Division in the Municipal Court (see Senate Bill 757).

When I practiced surgery I never cut off my patient's leg to cure a sprained ankle.

Respectfully submitted,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence,

Mr. ROBERTS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 484, House Bill Number 850, on third reading, entitled:

An Act creating a commission to be known as the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission defining in part the powers and duties of such commission abolishing The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania terminating the terms of the members thereof and transferring to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission the records employes property and equipment of The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to appear in and complete all pending proceedings legal or otherwise instituted before by or against The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing that all certificates of public convenience contracts orders and rules and regulations of the latter commission shall remain effective until repealed changed or modified by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and transferring and appropriating to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission any unexpended balance of any existing appropriation to The Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LAW. Mr. PRESIDENT, I object

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I take it that the amendments may be sent to the desk and read and then we can give unanimous consent, or other procedure may be taken after they have been read.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, that the objection is to amending the bill at this time. Objection has been made and the amendments can not be considered.

MOTION TO GO INTO COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment of this bill, the amendments having been sent to the desk by the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of parlimentary inquiry.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to inquire whether or not a vote "aye" on this motion carries with it the adoption of the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that has been the rule heretofore, and it does.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I ask that the amendments be read.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend Title, page 2, line 19, by inserting after the word "commission" the following: conferring powers and imposing duties on the Department of Public Instruction Amend Section 6, page 22, line 2, by striking out the following: "with the approval of the Governor" Amend Bill, page 22, by inserting between lines 15 and 16 the following section: Section 7. (a) No officer, expert, engineer, statistician, accountant, inspector, clerk or employe, except secretary, counsel and assistant counsel, shall be appointed or employed by the commission after the effective date of this act. The commission is hereby authorized to prescribe, from time to time, by rule or regulation, the qualifications to be possessed by persons desiring employment under it. The qualifications shall be such as will best promote the efficient operation and management of its affairs, but in all cases persons appointed shall be citizens of the United States.

Every person desiring employment under the commission shall file with the commission an application, under oath or affirmation, which shall be in such form and shall set forth such information as the commission shall prescribe: Provided, however, That the commission shall not require an applicant to furnish a photograph of him- or her-self, and that no application blank shall require the color, religion, or political affiliation of the applicant to be designated. Upon receiving such application, the commission shall transmit the same to the Department of Public Instruction, which shall determine whether, under the rules or regulations of the commission, the applicant is qualified for the employment he seeks. If so, the applicant shall be admitted to competitive examination, when examinations shall next be held for position in the class of employment he seeks. Such competitive examinations shall be practical in character, and, as far as may be possible, shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to perform the duties of the service to which they seek to be appointed.

The Department of Public Instruction shall conduct such examinations at such places in the Commonwealth as to make it reasonably convenient and inexpensive for applicants to attend them. The department may divide the State into districts for the purpose of conducting such examinations. Every candidate admitted to such examinations shall be given a number, so that when his paper is marked and graded it will be impossible for the person passing upon the examination papers to ascertain his identity until his grade has been established. The examination papers of such candidates shall be marked by committees composed of representatives of the department and of persons, not employed by the Commonwealth in any other capacity, designated by the presidents of the colleges and universities receiving State aid from the Commonwealth. All such examination papers shall be graded on a basis of one hundred per centum and less. Such examination papers shall immediately thereafter be filed and the applicants listed. Any person who shall have been a member of the armed forces of the United States during a war or expedition for which the Government of the United States issued a campaign badge, whose separation from said service was honorable, whether by discharge or otherwise, shall receive, in addition to his rating on his examination paper, an additional rating of five per centum. All such outside examiners shall receive compensation at the rate of fifteen dollars per day for their services. The number of committees which may be necessary shall be determined by the department; and each committee shall consist of three persons. The selections made by the presidents of State-aided colleges and universities shall be submitted to the department in writing by each such president, and the department shall designate committee members from the lists so submitted in rotation.

Except as hereinafter provided, all offices, places and employments under the commission shall be filled by selections from persons who have satisfactory passed the examination. The persons receiving the highest grade shall be first appointed, and so on.

If a list of eligibles certified by the Department of Public Instruction is available for any position, another examination shall not be given until after the expiration of twelve months from the date of the last examination for that position. Such subsequent examination may be held, in the discretion of the commission, at any time after the expiration of such twelve month period; and when such subsequent examination has been held, and the list therefrom duly certified by the Department of Public Instruction, the previous list shall expire and no further appointment shall be made from such previous list. Provided, That when a position is to be filled by appointment from a list of eligibles, and a list of persons eligible for appointment to such position is not available, examinations shall be held for that position at the earliest convenient date after the vacancy occurs.

(b) Vacancies in positions in the competitive class, whether such positions be newly created, or vacated for any reason by any former incumbent, shall be filled, so far as practicable, by promotion from among persons holding positions in a lower grade. In all cases, a person to be promoted shall have served not less than six months in a position under the commission. Promotion shall be based on merit, and upon the superior qualifications of the person promoted as shown by his previous service.

In the event it is not seemed practicable to fill a vacancy by promotion, in the manner prescribed in the foregoing paragraph, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment from an eligible list of the person next in line for appointment from such list, except that no such appointment may be made to any position having a rate of compensation higher than that paid to any employe or employes who have been appointed from the same list within six months prior to the date of the current appointment; and in order that this may be carried out, the commission shall make such changes as it deems advisable in the then status of any employe or employes who have been appointed from the same list within six months prior to the date of the current appointment: Provided, however, That such changes are not required, except where they are necessary to insure that the most recent appointment shall be to a position which does not have a higher rate of compensation than that paid to any employe or employes who have been appointed from the same list within six months prior to the date of the current appointment.

(c) The tenure of any person holding a position under the provisions of this act shall be during good behavior, but any such person may be removed, demoted, suspended without pay or with reduced pay, transferred, reprimanded, or restored to his position or another position with such pay as may be equitable for any of the following causes: Incompetency, inefficiency, insubordination, dishonesty, intemperance, immorality, profanity, discourteous treatment of the public or other employes, wilful disobedience, violation of the provisions of this act or of the rules and regulations of the commission, or for any other failure of good behavior, or any other act or acts which are incompatible with, or inimical to, the public service; but no person shall be required to contribute to any political fund, nor support any political party or organization, nor shall any such person be removed or otherwise prejudiced for refusing to do so.

Whenever it is necessary, because of lack of work or lack of funds, or whenever it is advisable, in the interests of economy, to reduce the staff of the commission, it may lay off employes.

In the event that the commission decides to abolish one or more positions, or to temporarily discontinue the same because of lack of work or lack of funds or in the interests of economy, then a number of employes of the commission equal to the number of positions to be so abolished or discontinued shall be laid off.

When it becomes necessary for any employe to be removed, demoted, suspended without pay or with reduced pay, transferred, reprimanded, or restored to a former position or another position with such pay as will be equitable for any of the above named causes, or when it is necessary, because of lack of work or lack of funds or in the interests of economy, to lay off an employe, or in the event the commission decides to abolish or temporarily discontinue one or more positions because of lack of work, lack of funds, or in the interests of economy, the employe or employes selected to be removed, in any of the manners so mentioned, shall have a right to appeal for a hearing and consideration of his case or complaint.

Further when any position is newly created or otherwise to be filled, employes who have been previously placed on leave of absence because of the abolishment or temporary discontinuance of a position or other reduction in personnel because of lack of work, lack of funds or in the interests of economy, such employes shall be recalled to service, within their proper classification and in the order of their rank, before any appointment can be made from a list created and certified at a later date than the list from which the furloughed employe was originally appointed.

In the foregoing section, the terms "promotion" "transfer" and "demotion" shall be interpreted as follows:

"Promotion" means a change from one position to another position having a higher rate of compensation, or involving a change of duties or responsibilities or either or both.

"Transfer" means a change from one position to another position at the same rate of compensation.

"Demotion" means a change from one position to another position having a lower rate of compensation, or in which different and less responsible duties are involved or either or both, whether made for the purpose of better adjusting personnel to the needs of the commission or as a disciplinary measure.

Amend Section 7, page 22, line 16, by striking out the figure: S "7" and inserting in lieu thereof: 8; Amend Section 8, page 23, line 9, by striking out the figure: S "8" and inserting in lieu thereof: 9; Amend Section 9, page 23, line 19, by striking out the figure: S "9" and inserting in lieu thereof: 10; Amend Section 10, page 24, line 17, by striking out the figure: S "10" and inserting in lieu thereof: 11; Amend Section 10, page 24, line 24, by striking out the figure: S "11" and inserting in lieu thereof: 12; Amend Section 12, page 25, line 12, by striking out the figure: S "12" and inserting in lieu thereof: 13; Amend Section 13, page 25, line 22, by striking out the figure: S "13" and inserting in lieu thereof: 14; Amend Section 13, page 26, lines 9 to 12, by striking out: S the words "and shall continue to perform their" in line 9, all of lines 10 and 11, and the words "the commission" in line 12, and inserting in lieu thereof: without tests and without serving a probation period, and shall thereafter be subject to and be entitled to the benefits in all respects of the provisions of this act. Amend Section 14, page 28, line 15, by striking out the figure: S "14" and inserting in lieu thereof: 15; Amend Section 15, page 28, line 22, by striking out the figure: S "15" and inserting in lieu thereof: 16; Amend Section 16, page 32, line 3, by striking out the figure: S "16" and inserting in lieu thereof: 17.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, this particular amendment would put under civil service the present employes of the Public Service Commission—the new Public Utilities Commission.

Now, I listened with considerable interest to the splendid address the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, made this morning, and I quite agree with him that one of the greatest faults in our present system of government is the abuse of patronage; and I feel that we of the Senate have an opportunity at this time to put ourselves on record by voting for or against these amendments. By voting for these amendments, an opportunity will be given the present employes to retain their present positions.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does the Senator from Indiana feel that the present employes of the present Public Service Commission are capable and efficient, and that they have been?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, at the public hearings I have attended all the criticism has been leveled against the present commissioners; I have not heard one word leveled against one employe of the Commission.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Indiana, then, state whether they were selected under a civil service regulation?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I am not sure, but I do not believe they were. But the Liquor Control Board was not, I believe,—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Centre, Mr Thompson, will state his point of order.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, my point of order is, a motion to go into Committee of the Whole is not debatable.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, may I say to the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, that he would be correct in his point of order if the motion were to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of general amendment; but where it is for special amendment, and a vote for going into Committee of the Whole carries with it the amendment, I submit that the point of order raised by the Senator from Centre is not well taken.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, is not well taken. The question before the Senate is on the motion to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I move the previous question.

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to ask, what motion is before the Senate.

The PRESIDENT, the motion before the Senate is to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr President, I thoroughly agree with the Senator from Indiana that the merit system is important, but I do not agree with the Senator from Indiana that when a bill is on third reading, when a bill has been on the calendar for first and second reading and is finally on for third reading, that, without an opportunity to examine the amendment, without an opportunity to find out whether this so called merit system is a merit system, that we the members of this Senate should be put on record to vote for or against a merit system which has been drawn by one member of the Senate, without an opportunity for the other forty-nine members of the Senate to examine and look into it.

This is a very important bill. It involves a very important function of the Legislature; and ought not to be put in position of voting on an amendmnet setting up a merit system about which we know nothing. It is true I mentioned this morning that I believe in the merit system, but if the Senator from Indiana will look at the Committee report, he will find that the bills carrying out the recommendations of the Committee have been on the calendar for some time. For that reason alone I feel we are not jusitfied in voting on any amendment conceived over night and presented at a moment's notice.

The PRESIDENT. The motion before the House is on the previous question.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, will state his point of order.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, there are a certain number of seconders required for a motion for the previous question; and I hope my friend, the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, will not insist on that motion, for we can play that game too, and we will; we have enough for that.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, before this vote is taken I would like to call the attention of this Senate:

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. There is nothing before the Senate but the roll call.

Mr. OWLETT. But, Mr. President, the roll call is on the motion for the previous question, and I want to call attention to the fact that if this is done it is shutting off debate in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, is not in order; the question is not debatable.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I would like to know whether we are voting on the previous question, or on—

The PRESIDENT. The vote is on the previous question.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Buckman and Mr. Homsher.

QUESTION OF LEGISLATIVE INQUIRY

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, before the vote is announced, I rise to a question of information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will proceed.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, as I understand, the vote has been on the previous question.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette is correct.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, and the previous question before this Senate was the motion to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment?

The PRESIDENT. That also is correct.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the Chair says it is correct; and that being the case, a vote "aye" is a vote in favor of the motion to go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

The PRESIDENT. A vote "aye" is a vote on the call for the previous question.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I take it, according to rules 9 and 10 of the Senate, when a motion for the previous question is made, and seconded by four members of the Senate, the question is then put to the Senate whether or not debate shall cease. This is on the motion on the previous question, and when we vote "aye" on the previous question it means that debate on the General question shall cease.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia is correct. The vote just taken was on the previous question.

The yeas and nays were as follows:

YEAS—28

Dando,	Kilgallen,	Pytko,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Kunkel,	Rankin,	Shapiro,
Eroe,	Lanius,	Reed,	Sipe,

Buckman,	Ealy,	Howell,	Scarlett,
Cavalcante,	Gelder,	Jacobs,	Wolfenden,
Chapman,	Haluska,	Mallery,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Heyburn,	Owlett,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The PRESIDENT. The vote just taken was on the previous question, and the motion was carried. The question reverts to the original motion, which is now before the Senate,—whether the Senate shall go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment; and upon this question the roll will be called.

The Chair will call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this motion carries with it, if decided in the affirmative, adoption of the amendments offered.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BUCKMAN and Mr. HOMSHER and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Bean,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Scarlett,
Buckman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Wolfenden,
Chapman,	Homsher,	Salus,	Woodward,
Deitrick,	Howell,

Frey,	Lanius,	Rice,	Stiefel,
Gilson,	Law,	Roberts,	Thompson,
Haluska,	McCreesh,	Rodgers,	Huffman,
Heyburn,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I understand now the question is on the bill?

The PRESIDENT. On the bill.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, if this bill, House Bill No. 850, is passed into law, it will bring no credit to this Legislature or to this Administration.

The Public Service Company Act went into effect January 1, 1914. Since that time many men have served in administering the law. Whether the law should be changed in any particular or whether or not any of the Commissioners in the past have been remiss in their duties are questions not involved in this bill. It simply abolishes the Public Service Commission and substitutes therefor a Public Utility Commission.

I am not speaking for the law as now written nor am I speaking in the interest of any member of the present Commission. I am not interested in individuals at this time; but I am concerned with the effect the enactment of this law will have on fair and orderly democratic procedure and traditions.

In this bill which is before us, the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, may remove any of the New Commissioners to be appointed, for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office, after giving them a chance to be heard upon not less than 10 days notice of the charges preferred. But the bill seeks to abolish the present Commission without any charges being perferred against the members.

In other words, this is a frank and daring proposal to seize on some political jobs without any reason except the desire for the spoils of office. Public Service Commissioners have many judicial duties to perform. In abolishing the Commission you are therefore turning out of office before their terms expire a certain number of judges, without any charge against them. Do you think you are rendering service to the State by such conduct? Do you think the public will have greater confidence in a group which is appointed under such conditions to take the place of the present members?

When this same plan was proposed by a former governor who had been elected as a Republican, it was rejected by Republican members of this Senate. They knew that if the principle of changing members on this important body at the demand of the Executive were once established the independence and stability of the Commission would be gone.

If you will accede to the demand of the Administration and change this body now, it will be so much easier to listen to a like demand from the next Governor who sits in the Executive Mansion.

The present Governor has already made one appointment to the Commission. Other vacancies will occur during his term. The officals thus appointed will have assurance of a long tenure. The dignity of the body will be maintained and with good appointees the standard of service will be high. But, to do what is now proposed by this bill is disgraceful and not in accord with fair play or the spirit of our democratic traditations.

The only light we have for a guide in our legislative conduct is the light of history; but the tragedy of history is that its lessons will never be learned until it is too late.

By passing this bill, you are expelling from office men occupying high judicial positions for the simple reason that the Executive wants to appoint others to do their work. One of the charges against George III of Great Britain, as enumerated in the Declaration of Independence, was that he made judges dependent upon his will alone for the tenure of their offices.

At an even earlier date, King James II of England packed a bench with judges who were expected to decide as he wished; filled civil and military offices with his own favorites; created mayors, sheriffs, judges and generals with amazing rapidity; and even placed his own partisans at the head of two Oxford Colleges and from Magdalen College expelled every fellow and scholar for resisting his will.

It has remained for the present Administration in Pennsylvania to approach the nearest to this unenviable record of James II by dismissing tried and true office holders in the administering of charities, in educational positions and in other honorary places which were never heretofore considered subject to the spoils system.

King James lost his throne by his reckless conduct; King George lost his colonies; and as surely as the censure of history has blackened their names it will condem like methods in the present day.

One of the worst aspects of this and similar measures is that they are done in the name of reform. But reforms effected in irregular and undemocratic ways are in the long run valueless.

And why do all these so-called reforms have to be completed immediately? Is all wisdom to cease with this Administration?

It is ever the character of dictators to become impatient of delay and to adopt unconstitutional and devious methods to secure their ends. When orderly methods and fair play cease, justice always suffers and liberties are lost to the people.

Do not rush hastily into a course of action which may seem to give temporary advantage to the majority party but will set a precedent which can in the final analysis only result in evil.

"The appeal of law is in the last resort to the conscience of mankind * * * all good legislation must be ethical, or, in other words, it ought to be satisfactory to the conscience of the community." This true statement by a wise judge applies here.

Do not pass this bill.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, somehow or other I cannot help but be amused by the remarks of the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy. It seems to me it is not so long ago that the Senator from Somerset was one of a group of members of this same body who twice rejected other members of this same Commission who will be put of office by the passage of this bill. Now, certainly these men have not so changed the color of their attitude on public matters since they were rejected by this Senate during the Pinchot administration as to warrant special consideration by this administration. Furthermore, if I recall correctly, it was one of the political sell-outs that was made during the preceding administration that caused these same gentlemen to be confirmed, and also, Mr. President, if I recall correctly, back in the summer of 1934, in order to induce Governor Pinchot to get on the band wagon and help elect the present Governor, these same gentlemen who now complain about the ousting of these members of the Public Service Commission were the very ones who sold out their established principles, their principles which they voiced so loudly in the two preceding sessions when they persuaded Governor Pinchot to go along with the Republican ticket in 1934. Why should we, as Senators today, be so tender of the feelings of men who were voted into these very offices by a political deal 2 or 2½ years ago. Certainly, nothing was more political than the deal that put these members and confirmed them on the commission, and I say to the members of the Senate, that it will be to the everlasting credit of this administration to oust these members of the Public Service Commission.

Speaking a little from my own experience; The little borough in which I reside has been trying for four or five years to get some sort of relief from these members of the Public Service Commission on account of an exhorbitant municipal light rate, a municipal rate, not a private rate, I personally have been promised action on that by the members of the Commission for two years; they told me they would take action to adjust the rates of the Associated Gas and Electric Company in Philipsburg Borough. Not one single action have we ever had except promises from the very members of this Commission. Where were those gentlemen who now seek to protect them? Where have they been during the past 2½ years, ignoring complaints of the citizens of Pennsylvania against the biggest utility octopus in this State? These, gentlemen have not been any bulwark of the protection to the people in this State in the past 2½ years. They have done nothing with the very people who should be controlled, and that has been the record over the 2½ years of the Public Service Commission in Pennsylvania.

I see no reason now, in spite of the remark of the Senator from Somerset, why we should be tender of the feelings of this Commission, who, in the first place, have been no protection for the people of this Commonwealth, and in the second place, who were seated on this Commission and confirmed on this Commission by a political deal which rang back and forth throughtout the State of Pennsylvania. There was not any thing noble, there was not anything patriotic, and there was not anything of a public spirit nature that confirmed these gentlemen on the Commission. It was just a simple, ordinary rank and file, ward political deal that put them there, and I repeat, Mr. President, that if for no other reason, this Public Service Commission should be ousted because of the political deal which put them in there and confirmed them.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the remarks of the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, have in no way answered the argument which I have endeavored to make against the passage of this bill. I made it plain that I am not concerned with the individuals on this Commission. There is not a single member of the Commission who has been to me in any way to oppose the passage of this bill. Personally, it does not make any difference to me whether they are all thrown out. I want to say that there was never at any time that I can recall any rejection to the members of this Commission. They were not before the Senate for approval at any time until the time they were finally confirmed. I also want to say that I was never a party to any deal; I had no interest in any way in any of the members, but to proceed in this irregular method is certainly a detriment to the order of democratic procedure.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this may be a very meritorious measure, it may be highly idealistic, but what I object to is the means by which this desirable objective is to be attained. I object to hearing the argument of the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson, when I was all primed to make an argument on civil service; and he moved the previous question. It is almost unprecedented in this body, and I am doubly grieved that the Senator from Centre should so block my utterance. I want to protest against the obstruction of free speech, he had the opportunity to make a speech, and I had none.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LAW. Mr. President, will the Senator from Somerset state whether the names of these Commissioners were submitted to the Senate at the time they were appointed.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, it is my recollection that those names were before the Senate and were referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations. I was not a member of that Committee, and as I recall it, I had no opportunity to vote on the confirmation of the members of the Commission before they were reported out. At that time I believe I voted for the confirmation.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, just one more remark: The Senator from Philadelphia rather impugned my motives in moving the previous question a little while ago, and I would like to just recall to the Senator from Philadelphia that it has not been so many months since he voted in favor of a motion to expunge from the records of this body speeches that were made on the floor of this Senate by Democrats when this body was in in control of the Republicans, and I believe, Mr. President, that it comes with poor grace that having voted to expunge from the records of this body the speeches of the Democratic members, and then complaining of trying to have parlimentary matters expidited by a motion for the previous question.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I do not think that there is a Senator on this side of the House that has a thing personally against any member of the present Commission. I know them all, personally and they have been a part of the past; they have been grounded in the roots of special privileges in the past. They might be condoned for their inactivity in behalf of the people of Pennsylvania. The subject of utilities is a most important question. Every home pays electric light bills, gas bills, and in the larger populated sections they ride in street cars and other conveyances. We are dependent upon trucks for transportation these days, but in Pennsylvania, I want to say to you, Mr. President, that we pay the higest electric light bills, the highest gas bills, the highest bus fares, and the highest taxi-cab fares of any state in this Union. Go outside of this building today, get into a taxi-cab, and they ring up 25c before you start. It is the most amazing rate in the United States, this taxi-cab rate. In Pittsburgh we had a 25c bus fare for years, while just accross the line, in Ohio, you could ride in buses for 10c and even as low as 5c. In Washington you can ride clear across the city in a bus or taxi-cab for 20c. We pay the highest telephone rates of any state in this Union, and a strange thing happens in regard to trucking. A truck over the line in Ohio can haul its freight right into the city of Philadelphia, but there is no trucker in Pennsylvania who can haul freight from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia; what he does, is haul the freight; because it has interstate commerce protection; over into New Jersey, then reload it and then haul it back into Philadelphia. Truckers in this State have complained for years that there was discrimination in favor of railroads. Now, in this discrimination they ought to be protected, there ought not be discrimination in favor of the railroad.

Now, at the hearing before the Committee on Public Utilities, Mr. Goodnough, Chairman of the Commission, gave us a full statement of the activities of the commission throughout the past year or two, and I admit that during the past year or two that it has shown some improvement. He stated there had been a reduction of $23,000,000. to the consumers due to a reduction in the rates of the public utilities in the State of Pennsylvania. Now, in regard to those reductions, I want to say that most of the reductions were voluntary, the owners of these utilties have realized for the past couple of years that they had better come down to earth, they had better reduce their fares or they would be forced down, and it is not surprising that these rates have been reduced $23,000,000., but I say to you, Mr. President, that this is not enough; I say our gas rate, right in the largest gas section in the world, you might say, our gas rate to consumers in homes is outrageous. I say our street car situation in the City of Pittsburgh is outrageous. There has been no attempt to reduce the fare which is 8⅓c, and 10c if you pay for one single ride. There has been no move to find out whether the street cars should be taken off the streets of Pittsburgh as they are in cities in the West, and modern buses put on there; no inquiry, no investigation, no nothing. Now, I say again,that these men are personally alright, everyone of them, but they are rooted in the past, they were tied up with a Commission that has been a Commission of special privilege in this State, and they have not yet shown, and I do not think they will show, the right spirit in behalf of the consumer in Pennsylvania.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to agree with the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, that he was not in the Committee on Executive Nominations in the 1935 Session. Neither was any body else in this Senate on that Committee; the Chairman of the Committee was the only member of that Committee; and if the Chairman felt like reporting out some name for confirmation, he did it, and told us that the Chairman of the Committee had directed him to report out that nomination. And if he did not feel like reporting that nomination he held the meeting with himself and decided it would be well not to report it out, and he made no report. That made it much easier. And it comes with very bad grace from the other side to complain about procedure in which we are engaged today, when we were doing that which they have continuously failed to do, and which brought about their reduction to a minority party—and that was, to keep their pledges to the people who put them here.

When I was on the other side many of the men on that side protested against the failure to keep the promises. Those who had the temerity to stand up and fight for that principal are either on our side today or are on the out side politically, and those did not are on the out side altogether. I recall the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward's, complaining because he was put so close to the rail when he came back. I think it is rather fortunate the Senator was not a candidate this time, or he might have found himself on the other side of the rail.

We are engaged now in carrying out the platform and party pledge. The Governor of the Commonwealth campaigned, and the candidates—and I was one of them—campaigned on the platform that a Fair Rate Board would be created and installed. I have no quarrel with any of the members of the present Commission. I think I had, probably, one matter before them in the history of their service. I know some of them personally. I think most of them are very fine, amiable gentlemen; but I think, in fairness to the utilities—I say, in fairness to the utilities—their compromises, which they made and of which they boast so much, are not the right thing. People still believe, and people should know,—I do not know whether the rates are fair, fair in the sense of the law, which provides that rates shall be such as will permit the companies to earn a definite rate of interest on their investment; and when these gentlemen appeared before us they told us, first that they had not made, in many years, a survey and an appraisement of the assets; secondly, that they accepted the books of the utilities as the basis upon which to deal—not to arrive but to compromise; and, thirdly, that at no time did they know whether or not the machinery and equipment in question, which was involved in the determination of the value of the assets, were being used or were obsolete. That is neither fair to the public nor to the utilities. I am not going to stand up and shout against the utilities, I am one of those who believe they are entitled to a fair return on their investment, and they are entitled to pay taxes in accordance with their ability to pay, like anyone else, and they are entitled to a fair hearing on questions involved; but I believe the utilities will be much better off with a commission which will one and for all satisfy the public as to whether or not they are receiving more than the fair rate fixed by law, or whether they are receiving less; and if they are receiving less, the rate should be increased, and if they are receiving more, the rate should be decreased.

Compromise is a good thing when the two individuals involved in the compromise take the loss; but when a third party who has no share in reaching the compromise, takes the loss, then the compromise, which compromises him, is no way of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion. And I say to the members of this Senate on the Democratic side, when they vote on this bill, irrespective of the question of taking these men out of office, they are voting for the keeping of a party pledge, and that is one thing I have always tried to do since I have been in this Senate.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I had not intended to speak on this measure, but I cannot let any misstatement of facts go by without correcting them on the record. When the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, states that at the session of 1935, the Committee on Executive Nominations did not meet to consider the nominations he does not state the fact. What he said is not true. I was a member of that Committee, and I say to this Senate that there was no nomination of any importance put out of that committee without a full and fair meeting of the Committee, under the chairmanship of the then Senator from Allegeheny, Mr. Coyne; and I will go further, and say that on many occasions there were nominations held up by that Committee, consisting entirely of Republicans, at the request of the Democratic Senator, who now sits in this Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I always try to deal with facts, and I will say to the Senator from Bucks that I know whereof I speak. I was in Republican caucuses on three different occasions when the caucus decided, in two instances for approvals, and in the third instance against approval, when nothing was done. I was in caucus when the Republican organization decided not to approve a candidate, and when we left the caucus we came on the floor, and the Senator who was the Chairman of the Committee on Executive Nominations, I still insist, reported out with a favorable recommendation in a nomination which had been decided in caucus not to be reported out. Everybody knows it and the protestations of the Senator from Bucks will not change the fact that the Republican Party—Mr. Ealy says he is not now interested in any individuals—that is right, but how about last year and the year before, when all the Republican Party was interested in was a few individuals and the only way they could perpetuate their interest by having a Chairman of their Committee who acted for the whole Committee.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, the remark just made by the Senator from Philadelphia simply goes to show that the Committee on Executive Nominations was not controlled by the Republican caucus.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1

Tronzo,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 8, entitled:

An Act to prevent fraud and deception in the shipping marketing and sale of anthracite coal providing standards for anthracite coal and providing penalties for the violation of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bradley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRADLEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be quite a lot of misunderstanding about this bill and some of the Democrats have asked me if I would not interrogate you and ask you to explain the bill.

Mr. BRADLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will do that for the gentleman. What we are going to do or trying to do is to give you what you are paying for, that is, fresh mined coal. They have been defrauding our people, buying coal by taking it from banks, where it has been lying for over a hundred years, which our forefathers and older miners put out there and got nothing for it, and from what I understand it costs about eighteen cents per ton to clean this up from the bank and put it in the cars, and they are selling it today as fresh mined coal.

Mr. TUMULTY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Northumberland, Mr. Bradley.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Northumberland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRADLEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from Northumberland tell us the difference in b.t.u.'s between fresh mined coal and the other coal?

Mr. BRADLEY. No, I cannot, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TUMELTY. Mr. Speaker is there any advantage in fresh mined coal over coal that has been lying out on a bank? Would fresh mined coal give any more heat and last any longer?

Mr. BRADLEY. Absolutely, Mr. Speaker. It will give you more heat and last longer.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Tronzo,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 111, entitled:

An Act to promote the safety and general welfare of miners in the bituminous coal industry, by prohibiting the employment of miners in the bituminous coal mines unless certificated after examination by a miners' examining board, and the payment of certain fees, providing for the appointment of such boards, and defining their powers and duties; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I believe in the qualification of miners to work in the bituminous coal fields in the interest of the general welfare, but in my county there is a peculiar situation. Back on the mountain tops and ridges there is here and there a little patch of coal. Twenty-five acres would make quite a coal field. Some of the natives there own this coal either in fee or in leasehold. They are making a living mining this coal. At certain times of the year they cannot mine the coal because the roads are too bad. During the winter time, when there is a demand for coal and the roads are in condition, they are able to get out a small amount of coal. As I understand it, this bill will put those people out of business and virtually confiscate their property. I cannot stand idly by and allow my neighbors, good honest citizens of our county, to be put on the relief rolls in this way. There is nothing else in the county for them to do and if they do not get work at this kind of employment they simply have to go on relief. I do not believe it is the policy of this House to force people onto relief, people who are honest and willing to make a living if they are given an opportunity. I am sorry I cannot vote for this bill. I am in hopes that something may happen in the way of a change in the bill that will allow these poor mountaineers to make a living.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

STATEMENT BY MR. TURNER.

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to make the following statement:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, since the other evening, when I suggested that the House might go over to the Governor's office from time to time and deliver a message to the Governor, I have received a great number of communications from my Democratic colleagues who are a little hesitant about making these statements themselves because of their position with the Governor. I received one communication that I thought would be of great interest to the members of the House and to the Executive. This is a "Letter of a Puzzled Legislator to his Governor":

Dear Governor:

Some of us boys was loafin' down at the Roosevelt Club the other day and we got talkin' about the Legislature, like we have time to do now since the slot machines were put away till your blast dies down a little, and Sim Lukins blows in and joins the talkfest. Not that you ought to pay much attention to Sim, on account of how he owns his house, wears a necktie and votes pretty often for the cursed Republicans, but Sim got to askin' questions that made some of us a little uneasy on your account. So I wrote down a few of them so I could tip you off. Of course most folks take what you and Franklin D. do as all ok, which is as it should be, for if ever people get to do a little thinkin' for themselves I got an idea these here Philadelphia rippers of yours is goin' to be mild beside what the voters are goin' to do to us Democrats.

This here Sim is one of that kind. "What I would like to ask you boys is this", said Sim: "When is a sales tax not a sales tax?"

And we give up without a struggle and Sim says: "When it is hidin' behind a can of tomatoes in a Chain Store."

"It's like this", Sim explained, "our Governor is against a sales tax. He says so. But he's pretty slick, so gets up a Chain Store tax to boost the salaries of a few school teachers whose pay is a disgrace to this here Grand Old Commonwealth, if you ask me, and then the Chain Store adds the tax to the roundsteak and the bread the teachers buy, so how much better are they off than before they got their raise?" Honest, Governor, you could hear a pin drop. Two of your ever-faithful legislators sneaked out the back way and I just nodded my head, and tried to look wise.

"Well", says one of the boys, "mebbe the teachers could do their eatin' in Chain Restaurants. I herd a fella say the other day the Governor certainly is tender hearted toward Chain Restaurants," and some of the boys wanted to know why, but Governor I never mentioned a thing, and if it gets out don't blame me.

"And another question", said Sim, "is why did this here Great Executive of ours go and take the tax off the distillers and put it on spinach, or is it mabbe because he thinks nobody eats spinach anyhow"?

We tried to choke Sim off by talkin' about what a shame it was cold for Easter, but he switched right back, and he says:

"Then there's that cut of one buck in the driver's license fees and the extra cent on gasoline." Now Governor some of your everfaithful legislators down here at Harrisburg thought it was pretty slick the way you talked up how you was savin' the boys $5,000,000 a year and gettin' Joe Simon to put through a bill concealin' the fact that they are payin' $30,000,000 a year gas tax. You remember Joe's bill, which keeps the Oil Barrens from lettin' the people know how much tax they are payin'. Well, fellows like Sim they keep askin' and figurin', but most people don't give a dam so long as you don't tell 'em. I spoke up and said it was all OK by me, but Sim said it looked like a snide game to him. I never heard of a snide game, Governor, but it's one of them things that don't sound good in a political speech.

I just laffed it off, but Sim says: "Well, then, how about takin' three per cent. in taxes off them lousy corporations, and taxin' the savins' of widders and orphans?" Governor that's where he had me stumped, and I am askin' you to write an' tell me how to explain it.

You see we ain't used to arguin' for corporations and Sim got so sad about it he sounded like Sammy Weiss weepin' over the Pittsburgh flood. And I'd like to tip you off that a lot of the union boys out our way say if you don't stop somewhere there ain't goin' to be no corporations, and then who is goin' to hand out the wages, and if there ain't any wages who is goin' to pay dues to the union? That's what Sim said, and the sad part is, Governor, it's true.

So Governor, if you can find time between speeches, I wish you would write me the answers. Remember, Houdini got paid for foolin' the people, but you don't.

Your puzzled legislator,

ELMER.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker, with a great deal of pleasure.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the letter which Mr. Turner has just read was written by a perplexed legislator?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I should think that that would be self-evident to the gentleman from Philadelphia from his actions in this House, which coincide with what I have read.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Delaware please inform the House whether the letter which he just read was written by a member of this House?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I always try to keep confidences, but I would say confidentially, not to be repeated outside the four confines and boundaries of the State of Pennsylvania, that the letter which I have just read was written by a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature. I am not accustomed, Mr. Speaker, to having my veracity attacked upon the floor of this House. It may be attacked outside, but I don't allow it to be attacked here.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, aside from the question of whether or not the gentleman's veracity has ever been attacked on the floor of the House, I would like the gentleman to inform us who, if anyone, wrote the letter.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I said in the beginning that the gentleman from Philadelphia was a typical example of what I said about being puzzled. Now, having answered the question as to who wrotc the letter, I do not see how I can further explain to him who wrote that letter. It must be apparent that the letter was written on a piece of paper, and evidently typewritten, from the evidence before us. Therefore, it must have been written by some one.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman not to resort to "ignoratio elenchi" but to reply who wrote that letter.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, you know I am so modest. I can understand that in the mind of my youthful friend, with his experience dating back to the first of December, that it is incomprehensible that a legislator could write a letter.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, if the letter was written by a legislator, I am sure that the legislator who wrote such a clever piece of literature would not refuse to have his name divulged, and I wonder if the gentleman who wrote the letter, the author of that masterpiece, wont be good enough to set aside his modesty and take the laurels.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Philadelphia is trying to place laurels on my brow,—

Mr. OSTROFF. I mean his forebrow, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. This is the first time, Mr. Speaker, in my experience in the legislature that any one has ever done that, I will try to accede to his desire and grant his request. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia a question myself.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, I am not through as yet.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia said he was not through as yet. Personally I thought he was through at the very first question.

Mr. OSTROFF. Mr. Speaker, judging from the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I was through the first of December, but I hope to prove he is wrong.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Ostroff, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OSTROFF. I will not, Mr. Speaker. I move that the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, so far as the letter is concerned, be expunged from the record.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman insist on his motion?

Mr. OSTROFF. I do not Mr. Speaker. I withdraw the motion.

Stackpole,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1087, entitled:

An Act providing for the exclusions from the court room and the segregation of certain witnesses in criminal cases imposing restrictions on such witnesses providing for their maintenance at the expense of the county and prescribing penalties

On the question.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hess.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to interrogated?

Mr. HESS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hess, what is a court of original criminal jurisdiction, not of record, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, the magistrate's court. In answer to the question of the gentleman from Allegheny, I would say that the magistrate's or alderman's court would be a court of criminal original jurisdiction, not of record.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I take it, under this bill a magistrate could sequester a witness and have the county pay for the witnesses in his court.

Mr. HESS. He could, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not want to be misunderstood as being opposed to this measure. I think this question of sequestration of witnesses or witnesses under rule, as we have in many states throughout this country, is a good one, but I think this bill goes obviously too for. It should be confined to courts of record and courts of record only.

I should like to ask the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Hess, if he will not be willing to let this bill go over until it may be amended to strike out "not of record."

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, my co-sponsor, Mr Nagel, and myself are willing that this bill be placed upon the final passage postponed calendar, so that we can get together with the gentleman from Allegheny for the purpose of that amendment.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to the question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I realize we are in a hurry and I shall be very brief. This speech would not be delivered were it not for a mistake made by the Senator from Centre, Mr. Thompson by cutting off debate, so all that is left to us is to rise on a personal privilege. Now, I want to criticize this method of ours of going into the Committee of the Whole. I do not claim to be a parliamentarian, but I am surrounded by Senator Buckman, Senator Cavalcante and Senator Shapiro—who are parliamentarians, they surround me when I go back to the rail—and I would like to suggest that it is all wrong to go into a Committee of the Whole on special amendments and by going into a Committee of the Whole we would agree on these amendments. Now, that is not in Jefferson's Manual nor in the Senate rules, and I trust these Parliamentarians will discover where it is.

Now, that is the first point; I have four points. The second point is that the Senator from Centre yesterday destroyed free speech. He acted on impulse, and I have to be very gentle in my remarks because I live in the same hotel with him and he invited me to have lunch with him, so I am going to be very careful. You all know the mistake that Columbus made when he acted upon an impulse, and the one mistake that General Robert E. Lee made when he acted on impulse at Gettysburg, and also the mistake that Napoleon made, and the same thing applies to Governor Earle concerning the sales taxes—and we have a whole lot of impulses and sales taxes.

I excuse the Senator from Centre because he acted on impulse, and from President Roosevelt down they have acted on impulses. That is point number two.

Point number three. This is on the subject of labor. The labor party was formerly called the Democratic party. Last night they had a banquet at the Penn Harris (I wasn't invited), and I understand that one of the few men in the world whom I dislike was there, Mr. John L. Lewis. In fact a man came to my desk some time ago and he said, "Is John L. Lewis here? I'm going to shoot him. Will you lend me $5.00?" And I gave him $5.00. Now, I might be willing to vote for the Lieutenant Governor for Governor.

I have the greatest respect for Lieutenant Governor Kennedy, except that I cannot vote for him if he is sponsored by John L. Lewis—that's too much—and I wouldn't mind having a labor Governor, really. I used to oppose the miners' certificate bill here, and that is how I got acquainted with Mr. Lewis. Mr. Lewis has terrific eye brows and he brow-beat the committee, the Judiciary General Committee, and so scared them that they didn't know what they were doing; of course, it fell by the wayside, but I have since discovered that the miners' certificate law is a good thing. I am not opposed to the closed shop, I am not opposed to the check-off, I am a friend of labor—but nobody knows that I am. I would like to say, Mr. President, that I have always contributed to these labor paper advertisements and when they had labor conventions in Philadelphia, until the last campaign, when there was a post-card circular sent into my district saying. "Vote against Woodward; he is an enemy of labor." Well, I preserved that card, and I had several calls from the labor people for more advertisements in the papers and for more contributions to their conventions, and then I pulled out this postal-card and read it to them and told them that until the Central Labor Union apologizes, they will not get another penny. That post-card has saved me hundreds of dollars.

Now, Mr. President, I will be as fast as I can; I would like to talk for a long time about labor. You have all heard of the "Danver Harris" case—Senator Cavalcante has heard of that—where they had recovered damages from individuals, and those individuals are now in their graves. Then later on there was a labor case, the Cornwall Coal Company case in Arkansas. That strike was managed from Indianapolis, and one of our Philadelphia lawyers obtained a verdict in a damage case against the Union in Indianapolis—I don't see how he did it—but one of the essential mistakes in all labor unions is their refusal to incorporate. They will not incorporate, they want power and responsibility, but they know that when they are incorporated they can sue and be sued, and play the game. You ask a labor leader to become incorporated and he will say "no, nothing doing, we are amenable to the common law." Well, you cannot recover common law damages that you could from a corporation.

If the labor unions would incorporate, they would have to publish their financial reports and stand up and take their medicine like other people, and not be the spoiled child, and I would be 100% for labor. Many of our people are for bigger and better labor unions, and I am all for that.

Now, for the last point, the fourth point, about the Republican Party;—as Mr. Bigelow, the first speaker the other night, said: "Now, Senator Cavalcante, don't cherish a grudge, Frank Gowan is dead, George F. Baer died, and they did wrong, but Senator, don't nurse a grievance; two wrongs don't make a right." And so it is, I say to our New Deal friends, don't nurse grievances. The Republican party has made a lot of mistakes, but so many bills we have here are administration bills, that I think it is wrong, and it is based on false principles of nursing all grievances. Now, that is the Republican Party. I believe the Republican Party has done wrong, but they polled 17,000,000 votes and they ought to have a ratio of 40% in the government, but they haven't got that, they have only 20% instead of 40%—I can't explain that. Now then, the party will go on and I am against the name "Republican"—it has too many associations, bad associations, reactionary. I would like to see it change its name (but I can't give it a name), but it should embrace those people who do not delegate the power to one man, no matter how smart he may be, nor how sweet his smile, nor what his voice may be. I would like this new Party to have persons go into it with the express idea of breaking up the delegation of power to one man and who will also return the idea to our Governor of having three departments, the legislative, executive and judicial. Thank you very much.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. JACOBS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 409, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand and thirtyfive as amended and section one thousand and sixty-two of the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws five hundred nineteen) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" further regulating reports of auditors and controllers go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 444, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred eight of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred sixty-four) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" providing for the designation of the Secretary of the Commonwealth as agent for the service of process on business corporations and regulating the manner of services

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask if the sponsor of this bill, the Senator from Philadelphia. Mr. Stiefel, will permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I just want to ask the Senator from Philadelphia if he will explain, for the benefit of the Senate, the evil that is intended to be corrected by this bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the late President Woodrow Wilson, one of the outstanding masters of the English language, coined the expression, "Justice delayed is justice denied."

Now, at the present time when you have to serve a corporation it takes a long time until you complete the service in the county where the corporation is located. The purpose of this bill is to enable the serving of domestic corporations by serving the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and in that way saving expense and time; and this can be effected by means of a certificate of designation, in which a corporation will choose the Secretary of the Commonwealth as its agent, and, in case the corporation should fail, the Secretary of the Commonwealth will have authority to act as its agent.

The purpose of the bill, as I said before, is to save expense and speed up action.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would ask the Senator from Philadelphia whether in his opinion this bill will give the counties other than the county in which the company is doing business jurisdiction of action, or does it change the jurisdiction of the courts of the State?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, may I call the attention of my colleague from Tioga County to the bottom of page 4 and the top of page 5 of the bill, under Section 208, subsection 3-D, in which is stated "Such process may be issued by any court, magistrate or justice of the peace having jurisdiction of the subject matter of the controversy in any county of the Commonwealth in which the corporation shall have its registered office."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to ask if the sponsor of the bill, the Senator from Philadelphia, would object to this bill's going over in its order.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have no objection.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 444, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 469 (House Bill No. 1042), entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty and twenty-one of the act approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (Pamphlet Laws four hundred twenty) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" by continuing the tax upon that portion of the capital stock of certain corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies which were formerly exempt and by further defining the method of computing the franchise tax of foreign corporations

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to request that the Chairman of the Committee on Finance make a brief statement explaining this present bill and the other tax bills on this morning's calendar, paying particular attention to whether or not there are any changes in those bills as passed two years ago, and telling us just what these bills do,—if the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin, will be kind enough to do so.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Rankin, make the explanation requested?

Mr. RANKIN. Mr. President, we find on the calendar today four of the Administration tax bills, the first of which is Senate Bill No. 469 (House Bill No. 1042), which we are now considering. Briefly I would state that the original Act of June 1, 1889, levied a tax of five mills on all corporations except certain manufacturing businesses. On the sixteenth day of May, 1935, the Act was amended to include those corporations which had been tax-exempt for two years, and this, at that time, was an emergency tax measure.

The bill that is before us now is just a re-enactment of the tax on manufacturing corporations, but it does not state how long the tax shall be charged. The bill also includes nonprofit corporations, and dividends and interest earned in the Commonwealth. These are the only changes made in the Act by House Bill No. 1042.

The other two bills follow; that is, Senate Bill No. 470 (House Bill No. 1044) and Senate Bill No. 472 (House Bill No. 1048). The original Act, which is changed by House Bill No. 1044, was approved the seventh day of June, 1879, and provided for an eight mill tax upon the gross receipts of transportation, power and transmission companies. This Act was further amended in 1935, when an emergency tax of six mills was added to the original eight mills, making a total tax of fourteen mills. This Act was further amended on August 6, 1936, when a further emergency tax of six mills was added to the original eight mills, making a total of twenty mills tax on gross receipts. House Bill No. 1044 proposes keeping the tax at the amount of twenty mills—that is, on gross receipts of transportation, power and transmission companies—for the period from June, 1937, down to December, 1938, after which it will go back to eight mills. Those are the only changes from the 1935 and 1936 bills.

Senate Bill No. 529 (House Bill No. 1047) and Senate Bill No. 472 (House Bill No. 1048), that are before us this morning on third reading, are companion bills; there are no changes whatever from the bills enacted in 1935.

Mr. KILGALLEN. Mr. President, by way of explanation, for the information of the Senate, this bill as it now reads applies to various sewing projects, agreements for which are needed between the Federal WPA and municipalities. It has occurred to me that the nomenclature of the WPA may change, or some other authority may be set up by the Federal Government to handle these matters; and therefore I think it good legislative sense to add an amendment to this bill so that it will apply also to those other Federal agencies to be set up, and the amendment so reads.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I understand that this bill makes an appropriation for relief purposes for the month of April. Is that correct?

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, yes, for relief starting the first of April.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, in what amount?

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, $5,659,000.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, is that an increase over or a decrease under the amount appropriated for March?

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, that is an increase of $41,000.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Adams, Mr. Rice, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I believe that is correct. However, I do not believe that it is an amount in excess of what had been estimated for the balance of this biennium.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, we have all, I know, been astounded by each week receiving the report of an increase in the relief award in Pennsylvania; and I, for one,—not because I am unwilling to vote for an appropriation for relief but as a protest against the present methods of distributing relief, and as a protest against the increase in relief rolls during this period of business improvement,—propose to vote against this bill.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk proceeded to read the amendments.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, are the amendments being read for information?

The SPEAKER. The amendments are being read for information and for the action of the House.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this bill was practically rewritten in the Senate, with the amendments, and under the circumstances the importance and the size of the bill I do not see how we could possibly intelligently approach the amendments by the reading of them from the desk, scanning the bill here.

MOTION TO TABLE SENATE MESSAGE

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message from the Senate be laid on the table.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, would interrogation of the gentleman from Delaware be proper at this time?

The SPEAKER. The interrogation would not be in order unless the gentleman would withdraw his motion temporarily.

MOTION TO TABLE SENATE MESSAGE WITHDRAWN

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion temporarily to permit interrogation.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I first wish to thank the gentleman from Delaware for affording me the opportunity to interrogate him.

I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Delaware if it will be satisfactory, rather than to call this bill up at this time to concur in the Senate amendments, that an opportunity be granted to the gentleman of half or three-quarters of an hour during which time this bill could be read; whether or not that would meet the objection.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that it would be practically impossible for me during next two or three hours to sit down and read this bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman knew that the subject matter and the wording of the bill as it is now presently printed is exactly the same as it was when it passed this House, only that this appears as an amendment to the Administrative code rather than as a special enactment, would that meet the objections of the gentleman from Delaware, which would allow the bill to remain on the table, to be called up in half an hour to give him time to consider it?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, that places me in a rather delicate position. I have never, that I know of, doubted the word of any member of the House. However, in a bill so extensive as this there is opportunity for error by the gentlemen on the other side. I do not doubt their honesty of intent, but they have to take the information of others to some extent, as we do. If we could have these men who drafted these changes sit down with us for a few minutes we might be able to thrash it out. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it has been rumored in the House that there is to be a caucus of the Democratic members this afternoon, is that correct?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Yes, that is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Might we not let this whole matter lay over until that time, Mr. Speaker? From past experience we will have sufficient time to consider this bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. That is quite satisfactory, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Then I ask that this bill be passed over until later in the afternoon.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to thank the two gentlemen for the amicable settlement of their differences of opinion.

Mr. TURNER. We have no differences, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair observed that.
